*A teacher affects eternity: he can

A man's man — first, last, and always, he has endowed his students with the creed of fair play and good citizenship with which he has never compromised. Respected and admired by alumni, administrators, and co-workers, he gives one hundred per cent of himself and expects the best possible effort from others, whether it be on the athletic field or in the classroom.

Under his leadership and expectation of top effort, Beaverton's physical and health education program is recognized as outstanding in the state.

With a background of athletic excellence himself — twice he represented the University of North Dakota as guard at the Intercollegiate Conference and was offered a pro-football assignment with the Philadelphia Eagles — he has built a reputation for fielding top athletic teams in every sport.

In addition to working at his district job which could keep two ordinary men busy, he finds time to serve as a major in the Air National Guard, a continuation of World War II service as a lieutenant.

Mr. Freese's few leisure hours are devoted to hunting. As a nimrod, he will pursue any game from quail to elk, but his favorite sport is goose shooting. As a true sportsman, he enjoys the outdoors even when the birds aren't flying.

The administration, recognizing Mr. Freese as profoundly erudite in his educational philosophy and performance, has selected him as chairman of the Advance Placement Program in District No. 48.

Superintendent D. Herbert Armstrong said of Mr. Freese, "He is a community favorite and one of Beaverton's really outstanding teachers."

So to this man, who holds the golden key to opportunity, we humbly dedicate the 1961 BEAVER.

Administration

With an area of $58\frac{1}{2}$ square miles, District No. 48 is one of the largest employers in the county. With 527 certified employees and 300 full-time non-certified employees, its payroll is \$324,000 monthly. A projected growth of 1000 pupils per year in the first through twelfth grades will increase total pupil population from the present 10,043 students to approximately 16,043 students by the fall of 1967. Keeping pace with the rate of growth, the board must determine building needs in the district's rapidly expanding area. The 23 schools in the district include two high schools, and plans for junior high schools are on the agenda. The administrators and board constantly reevaluate the methods of teaching as they strive to offer top educational opportunities. Thus, the young people of Beaverton are educated according to the high standards demanded by the community and its representatives.

Situated in his new office, Mr. Armstrong continues to correlate the operation of two high schools in addition to 21 grade schools included in the new reorganized district. Administering policies, advising the school board in establishing policies, and preparing agendas for board meetings comprise a small part of his varied responsibilities, since he is accountable to the school board for the entire operation of all the schools in the district.

Last year Mr. Armstrong was one of 25 superintendents in the United States invited to Columbia University for a three-week work shop concerning school administration and practices. He has been invited to return this year for a one-week continuation of the course in December. Superintendent Armstrong also manages to add chairmanship of the executive committee of the Oregon School Study Council and the State Department of Education Committee on Able and Gifted Student Funds to his already busy schedule.

Goal of Administrators

Mr. Erickson, completing his eighth year at Beaverton, is responsible for coordinating the entire school program. Through active support for new school buildings and modern teaching methods, he has assisted Beaverton in making a smooth transition from an enrollment of 1900 students to the present 1400, resulting in a more satisfactory student-faculty ratio and increased individual attention. He holds prime responsibility for Beaverton's reputation of an excellent faculty, as he interviews and recommends every teacher hired and employed here.

Besides his extensive obligations within school, Mr. Erickson is just completing his fifth year on the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools state committee which works to evaluate all schools in the Northwest.

George E. Erickson
Principal

Gerald B. Gray, School Board Chairman, has effectively coordinated the group's responsibilities during this year. The primary function of the Board is to determine the policies for the entire operation of the school district.

Board Members,

District Officers Blend

The Board of Directors in Lines Seated, Derrol Pennington, Vernon Hansen, Gerald Gray, Albert Jensen, and Mrs. Erma Maust. Standing: John Barnes, Karl Neuport, Superintendent-Clerk Herbert Armstrong, Deputy Superintendent-Clerk Errol Hassell, and Assistant Superintendent Harvey Harris.

Due to the reorganization of District No. 48, now fourth largest in Oregon including 23 schools, 9,915 pupils, and 527 certified teachers, six officers have been appointed to assist Mr. Armstrong. Pictured are Mr. Thurman, accountable for special services; Mr. Dawson, Element-tary Coordinator, Mr. Hassell, concerned primarily with business, Mr. Armstrong, Superintendent-Clerk, Mr. Bulis purchasing and transportation agent, and Mr. Timmons, Administrative Assistant.

Talents in District No. 48 Reorganization

Deputy Superintendent Hassell, Assistant Superintendent Harris, and Superintendent Armstrong pause while discussing one of many problems confronting the district office.

During his ninth year at Beaverton, Mr. Arus Bird has continued to give efficient and dependable assistance to Principal Erickson. He is accountable for teacher-student relations and is responsible for Beaverton's friendly, co-operative atmosphere and relatively small discipline problem.

*Assistant Principal,
Provide Harmonious*

Mr. Gene Freese, Athletic Director, serves both high schools in the district. Scheduling and organizing all athletic events, a job made more complex by the addition of two new schools to the Metro League, is his responsibility. He also writes bulletins for publication and coordinates the curriculum for the P. E. department.

Mr. Arley Boyce, Student Activities Director, comes in direct contact with the student body. In addition to coordinating all club programs and advising all student councils, he teaches two courses: Retailing and Selling, and Functional Business.

*M*r. John Needham, Audio-Visual Aids Director, introduced several innovations to his department within the last few years. Among these are the controlled reader program used in summer school, the intensive use of the overhead projector in math classes, and the foreign languages laboratory. In addition, he is responsible for scheduling and coordinating the usage of all the audio-visual equipment for the district.

Competent Directors Academic Atmosphere

*M*iss Sanford, Adult Education Director, holds varied duties within the adult education program. She takes registrations, organizes classes and retains teachers. She also prepares copy for the Adult Education Handbook which includes the calendar, program and course descriptions. Moreover, she prepares publicity for various publications and teaches English classes at BHS.

*M*r. Al Robertson, Music Coordinator of the newly reorganized district, correlates purchasing of music and scheduling of musical activities for the district. He advises the grade school bands and vocal groups in addition to teaching two high school bands where he also advises the two dance bands, "Swingmasters" and "Rhythm Heirs."

Miss Bernice Conoly, Dean of Girls, earnestly accommodates any girl's needs for counseling. As advisor of Girls' League, she is able to attend many of the committee meetings and to become acquainted with a maximum number of girls. Miss Conoly encourages scholastic achievement tempered with extra-curricular activities to round out the student's personality.

Student Adjustment Facilitated by Deans

Miss Conoly handles an absence excuse for Penny Williams; this is one of the varied tasks she performs each day.

Dean of Boys, Mr. Robert Perry, lends a helping hand to the students at B.H.S. Planning Career Day, scheduling college visitations, working on college placements and scholarships comprise the major portion of his schedule. Through his counseling he advocates good conduct and promotes interest in intellectual growth.

Energetic P. T. A. President, Peter F. Butler, directs a vital board meeting as members discuss the 1960-61 agenda. By publishing a monthly news letter, sent to all parents, and presenting informative programs at general meetings, the P. T. A. furthers the progress of B. H. S. Moreover, it generously contributes to the exchange student program and provides a scholarship for a worthy senior.

P.T.A. Contributes To Scholarship And Exchange Student Funds

The 1960-61 P.T.A. Board members are seated: Mrs. Lew Russell Jr., Mrs. Edward Oberst, Mr. Peter Butler, President; Mrs. Carroll Becker, and Mrs. Jess Brown. Standing: Mr. E. L. Keezel, Second Vice President; Mrs. Lewis

Emmons, Mrs. Claire Nelson, Mrs. Robert Carroll, Mrs. Wallace Leaf, Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Sherman Pedersen, Mr. Sherman Pedersen, and Mr. Ernest Masters, Treasurer

Mrs. Agnes Forbes, Principal's Secretary, Mrs. Margaret Madsen, Student Body Finance Clerk, and Mrs. Denise White, Stenographer, combine their efforts to coordinate the functioning of the "heart" of B. H. S. Mrs. Madsen handles all student body funds, while Mrs. Forbes and Mrs. White type tests, organize lost and found, answer students' questions, and distribute mail, among many other duties.

Office Staff Executes Diverse Tasks

Mrs. Mildred Hall, Attendance Secretary, takes attendance books from a student. Her job entails keeping daily attendance, making quarterly reports to the State Department, duplicating transcripts and cataloging permanent records.

Mrs. Margaret Fischer, completing her second year as secretary to the Deans, helps students apply for a schedule change. She also makes appointments for students, in addition to typing for the entire counseling staff.

The office staffers seldom find their job dull or routine. From morning announcements to closing time they adapt themselves to every problem which arises.

Mr. Jim Shropshire, District Attendance Officer, and Mr. Bird discuss student absences. Mr. Shropshire is also responsible for the attendance records of several other schools in this area.

*Attendance,
Health Problems
Capably Handled*

Miss Panck, School Nurse, assisted by Mrs. Ann Gray, provides a friendly and cheerful atmosphere for ailing Beavers. She is also available to students from many grade schools in the district.

Miss Viola Dennis, librarian, maintains the library as both a service agency and a teaching agency. She selects and orders new books which provide materials for all subjects in school and captivate the interests of all pupils and teachers. Through her effectual guidance Beaverton may now boast 11,200 catalogued volumes.

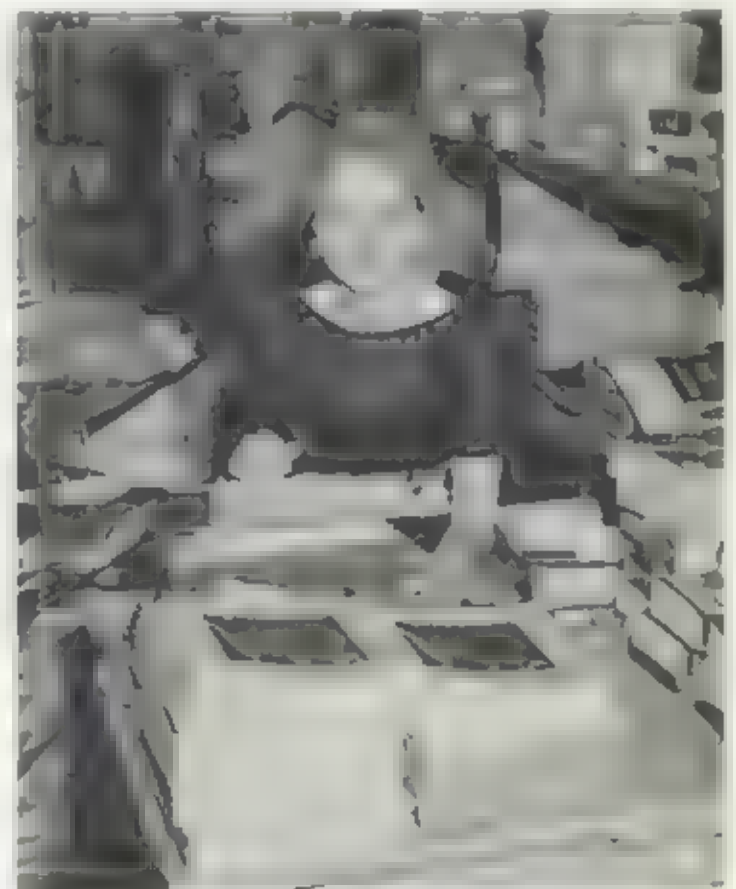

Library, Bookstore Offer

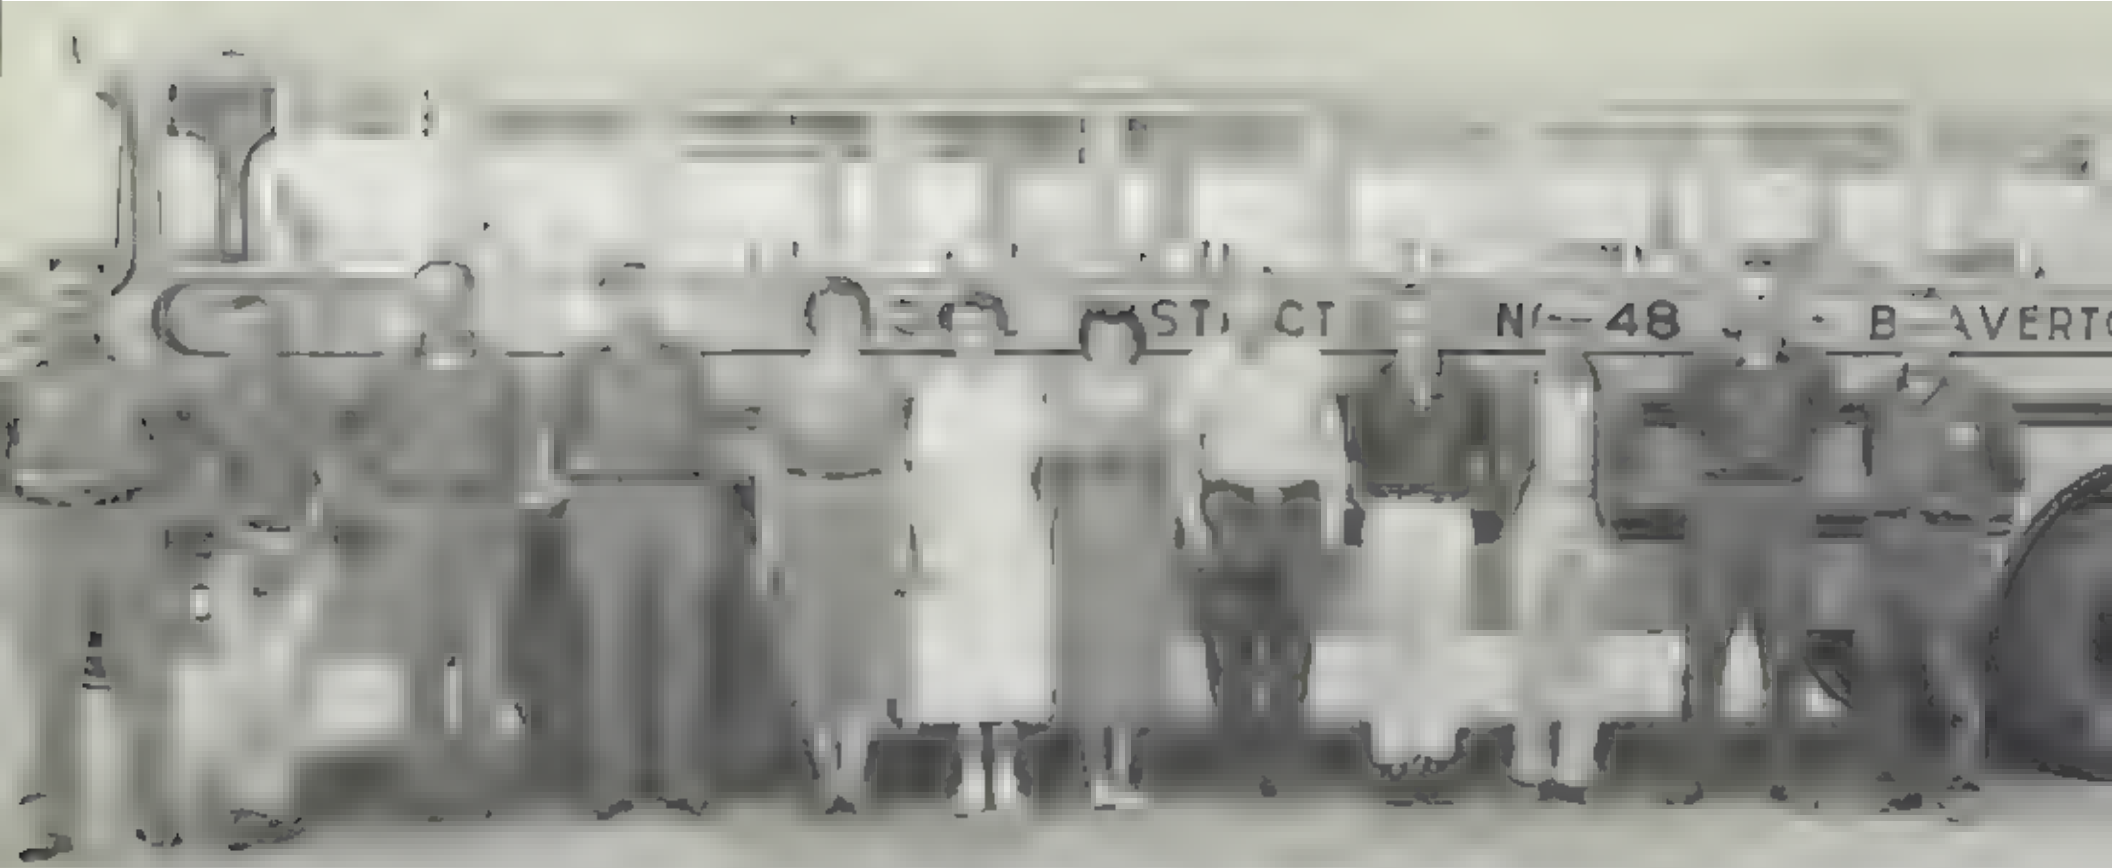

Extensive Literary Program

Mrs. Gladys Hoelschen and Mrs. Marjorie Inland assist Miss Dennis in the library by doing circulation work, handling mail, checking attendance, sending overdue notices, typing and filing cards, and lettering and preparing books for the shelves.

Mrs. Edna Mertel, Student Body Bookstore Manager, has extended Beaverton's bookstore so that it satisfies the majority of the students' needs for school supplies. Another attribute of the store is the wide choice of paperback pocket books now available.

Bus Drivers Skip Weges, Emmett Harrison, Lloyd Chapman, Rely Osbert, Lura Younger, Laura May, Rosemary Schea, Paul Ford, Robert Keen, Emmerson Wright, Robert Schurman, and Jim Schurman, Transportation Director, pose in front of one of the 51 district buses which transport a total of 7500 students

Service Groups Maintain Comfort,

Janitors add to the comfort of the students and faculty by keeping the halls and rooms of B. H. S. clean and orderly. They are Row 1: Clarence Garvin, Louis Maxiner, John Zimmer, Andy Byrd. Row 2: Ray Woods, Bill Hatcher, Adolf Weverka, Bill Kepler, and Laddie Benson.

Mrs. Louella Day and Mrs. Mae Benson give typically quick and cheerful service to a hungry student during one of the four lunch periods when the Snack Bar is open.

Sanitation Throughout School

Faculty

*M*r. Average Beaverton High School Teacher has been in secondary education 9.7 years, 5.3 of them at B.H.S. Averaging 244.32 college quarter hours, Mr. Composite teacher's degrees include B.A., A.B., B.S., B.B.A., M.A., M.Ed., M.S., and M.M. Effectively using college training and experience, Mr. Average has 4.8 classes daily, meeting 129.9 students. When he finishes instructing 1.94 different subjects daily, the Beaverton teacher advises 1.64 activities.

Beaverton teachers also have a life outside school. Sixty-three per cent of Beaverton's teachers are married and average 1.34 children per family. Home owners include 66 per cent of the staff, and the faculty garage houses 1.41 cars. Hobbies, varied and sometimes humorous, include "people" watching, model trains, eating, traveling, stamp collecting, and oil painting. Nineteen are sports enthusiasts, while sixteen enjoy music and reading. One harried soul said, "Who has time for a hobby?"

The English Department focuses major attention once again on writing and reading in quantity and quality. English instructors, realizing that the art of learning to write successfully requires prolonged training, strive to give every student frequent opportunities to practice this skill. To encourage individual progress, every student has a personal writing folder which enables him to note his progress in composition.

The bookmobile, a part of the B. H. S. bookstore since February, 1960, is stocked with paperback books requested and recommended by English teachers. Students are encouraged to start a library from these easily available quality paperbacks. Also, the English Department plans once again to sponsor "Vintage," the creative writing book which appeared as a B. H. S. publication in the spring of 1960. Through such projects, the department encourages creative writing and self-expression.

Speech, Drama, Journalism Complement English Program

The B. H. S. English Department collaborated this year with the Sunset English Department to sponsor a "Festival of Spoken Poetry." Held in Sunset's new auditorium, the program, jointly sponsored by both P. T. A.'s, included students from each school. Individual participants presented in dramatic form the works of well-known poets, as well as original poetry by high school students. Oregon poets and college professors, experts in the poetry field, were invited as guests.

To enable students to speak with poise and assurance, the Speech Department offers an extensive program including extemporaneous, expository, impromptu, and argumentative speaking. Makeup, set design, interpretation, and mood are prime factors in drama classes. Journalism is offered on a two-year basis. The second-year class applies techniques learned while enrolled in the first-year class, in publishing the school paper. Thus, the students are offered a complete course in the communication skills listening, reading, writing, and speaking.

Social Studies Emphasize Citizenship Training

Complying with the District No. 48 policy of education in citizenship, three years of Social Studies are required at Beaverton. Freshmen in World History explore the actions and backgrounds of modern nations. American History for juniors deals with the backgrounds of America as it emerged as an international power. Also, the classes follow closely the political scene of our country. Senior economics students discuss the basic factors of economic development: land, labor, capital, and management. Senior sociology treats the problems of the individual in modern American society. In addition, World Geography and International Relations are available as optional courses. An enriched course in the department deals with the American political and economic scene in depth, rather than breadth. The Social Studies Department, by providing an overall study of democracy at work, educates the student to be a better citizen.

Foreign Languages Accentuate Listening-Speaking Techniques

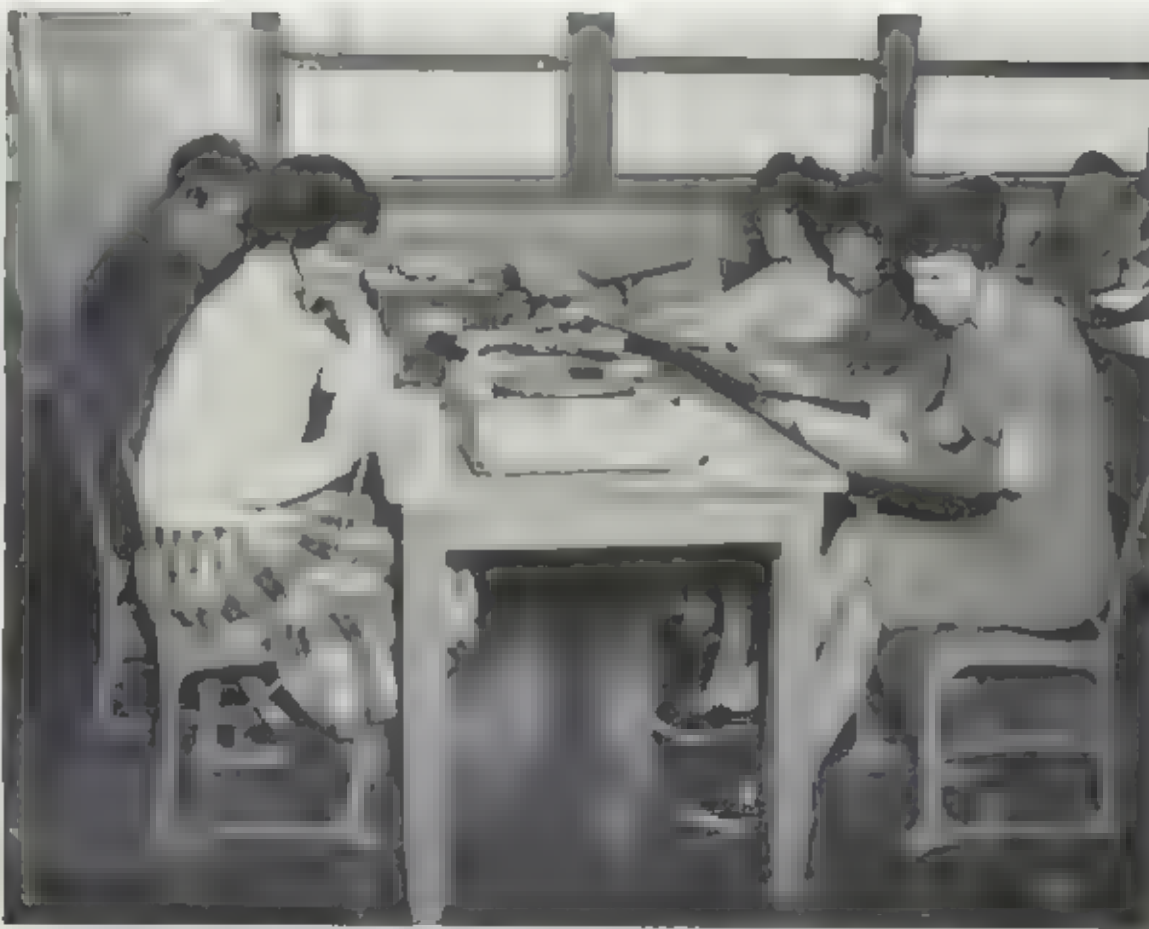

Foreign language classes underwent a change this year as emphasis switched from reading and writing to listening and speaking. This new program, still in experimental stages, enables the student to learn basic language phrases through the ears, rather than, as previously, through the eyes. Tape recorders and record players outfitted with earphones assure accuracy of sounds in the listening process. The ultimate goal in the listening-speaking program is a full laboratory system to be established in the future. The Foreign Language Department, in offering an extensive program in Latin, German, French, Spanish, and Russian, strives to lay a basic foundation on which students may build an understanding of the peoples of the world.

Mathematics Classes Trained in Basic Concepts

The Mathematics Department, recognizing the fact that some form of mathematics is necessary for every student, offers a wide variety of courses, ranging from general mathematics through number theory. All courses continue to emphasize basic modern concepts, and the application of mathematics in everyday life is stressed.

Beaverton's math department is experimenting with the use of the overhead projectors, an innovation in classroom teaching. Entire units of instructional material are prepared for presentation on the projector. By widening the scope of instruction, the department contributes to the education of each student, whether he is collegebound or plans to terminate his schooling upon graduation from high school.

Science Prospectus Stresses Citizenship Knowledge

The ultimate objective challenging the science department is the development of the major concepts and generalizations of science as they apply to living things, energy, mechanics, the earth, and the universe. This program is intended to give each participating student a foundation on which to build knowledge and citizenship. To increase the effectiveness of the science program, changes are being effected. Through efforts of the science department, student attention is focused toward the constantly growing area of scientific achievement.

Business Education Interprets Training For Adult Living

Preparation for the labor market and consumer living receives foremost attention in business education courses. New courses implementing the business program include Office Procedures for vocational typists on a junior or senior level; Functional Business which deals briefly with consumer problems, law, credit, money, and banking; and Record Keeping, a course involved with the systematic recording of numerical information necessary for personal and business use.

Office procedures students center their attention on copy as they use the department's speedy electric typewriters. The bulletin board in the background shows job opportunities for those interested in secretarial work.

Development of basic skills necessary for future technical, professional, and vocational training is accomplished in the Applied Arts Department through the exploration of raw materials, tools, techniques, and methods. The department drastically revised courses of study in Drafting and Woodworking and added drafting machines to the drafting room. The completely remodeled Home Economics laboratory and the photography classes, formerly in the Science Department, complete the revision of the applied arts program. The 34 daily classes in applied arts evidence the growing interest in preparation for vocational and professional growth.

Physical Education Trains For Physical Fitness

Primarily concerned with enabling students to meet the needs of physical fitness, the Physical Education Department provides once again a four-year student program. The department strives also to provide an opportunity for participants to develop skills in group and individual sports, to allow for the development of basic bodily skills, and to encourage and foster sports knowledge and understanding. Physical education also remains an enjoyable, relaxing change of pace in an atmosphere of wholesome play and competition by encouraging an educational environment for the development of sportsmanship and desirable social habits, attitudes, and responsibilities. The physical education program provides for instruction and participation in a great variety of individual and team activities and for a health education course of study which follows all of the state requirements in this academic area.

Features

The "extra touch" that adds to the Beaverton educational program is expressed through special assemblies, all-school dances, campaign weeks, dramatic productions, variety shows, and career conferences. In addition to pep assemblies and awards assemblies, an innovation this year was a program by the Atomic Energy Commission. Campaign Week, a week of student body election activities, climaxed with a campaign assembly, prepares students for voting responsibilities in adult life.

Drama and speech activities encompass a large percentage of the B.H.S. student body with a play, several one-act productions, an annual variety show, an operetta, and speech competition on the agenda. Socially, weekly aftergame dances and major formal and semi-formal affairs draw Beavers who dance to bands as well as records in surroundings decorated by ingenious club members. Thus, social functions are balanced with an educational program.

Hello Week Introduces New Tradition

Supporting traditional "Hi I'm" cards, students renewed old friendships and became familiar with new classes and teachers during Hello Week. The student body was introduced to exchange student Gulay Yurdal from Turkey at the Hello Assembly. The assembly, and also the Hello Hop following the Gresham game, were sponsored by Executive Cabinet as a welcome to freshmen and new students as well as returning members of Beaverton High.

An innovation in Hello Week activities was the Congenialty Court consisting of two representatives chosen from each class. Each of the first four days of Hello Week were highlighted by the announcement of court members of the respective classes and a "hi" slogan for the day. The fifth day the congenialty teachers, Mrs. Dimond and Mr. Porter, were announced. Climaxing the week was the coronation of the freshmen representatives as Miss and Mr. Congenialty, chosen on the basis of class attendance at the Hello Hop.

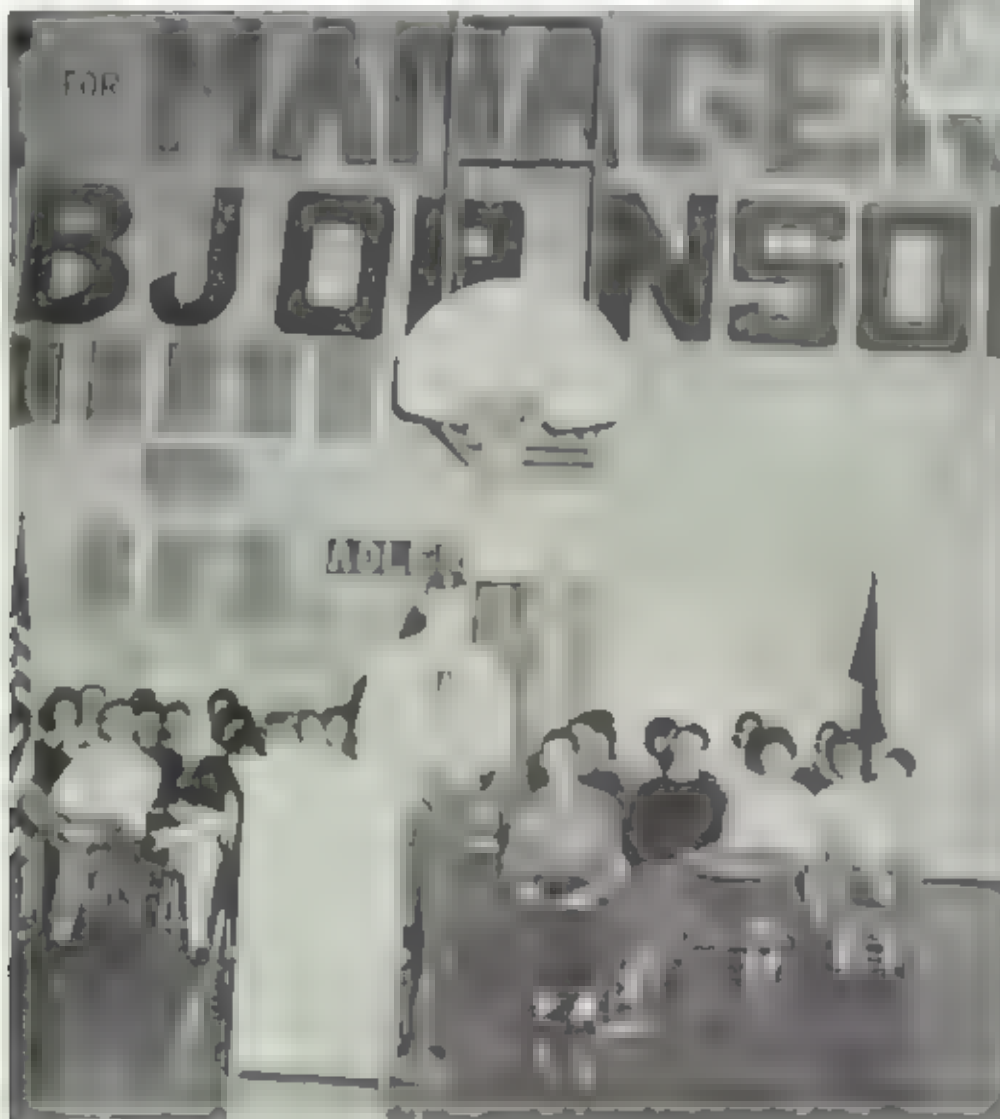

Sixteen Run for Student Body Offices

lection activities began when the 16 prospective candidates for student body offices circulated petitions, which must be turned in with the signatures of 7 per cent of the student body. Writing speeches for the "Campaigner" and for the assembly and making campaign posters for the halls were a few of the candidates' responsibilities. A campaign assembly featuring candidates' speeches and intermission music by the band climaxed pre-voting functions. The following two weeks polls were open as Beavers exercised their right to vote.

These Senior boys support their candidate for manager. Campaign posters throughout the school during campaign week acquainted students with the 16 candidates for offices.

Jim Baker, candidate for president, expresses his ideas on student council-administration relationships, the topic of his impromptu speech. Following prepared speeches, presidential candidates draw topics, and each gives a short impromptu on the topic he has selected.

Boys' and Girls' State

Study Government Procedure

One of three junior girls will be chosen to represent Beaverton High School at the annual week-long Girls' State convention held at the Capitol in Salem. Candidates are chosen by the faculty on the basis of character, citizenship, scholarship, leadership, and dependability. The girl to receive the honor will be chosen by the American Legion Auxiliary after each candidate has given a speech.

During the week at Salem, approximately 250 girls from all over the state receive valuable experience in government operations as they participate in setting up a mock government and electing officers. In addition to these educational activities, the girls are entertained at various social functions.

Barbara Cook, last year's representative, points to the State Capitol where she spent one exciting week last summer participating in the varied Girls' State activities

Students View Vocational Opportunities on Career Day

Experts representing seventy fields gave students information concerning educational requirements, opportunities, advantages, and disadvantages of their professions on Career Day, held January 25. The previous fall, students indicated preferences for the three career conferences. Mrs. Mary Diamond arranged the student schedules and obtained speakers from varied fields, including aviation, professional entertainment, forestry, and hotel management.

An innovation this year found students helping with the annual Career Day. Pep Club girls accompanied speakers to assigned rooms, while members of National Honor Society introduced the guests to the students in the various sections.

Glen Frank and Bob McIntyre greet Mr. Jack Meier of Meier and Frank Company. Mr. Meier spoke to both the freshmen boys and girls about career possibilities in business.

Career Day speakers relax in the teachers' lounge following career conferences. More than seventy experts from varied fields participated.

Juniors' Sheila Crowned

As a finale of the homecoming activities Junior Sheila Belcher is crowned by football co-captain Guy Hale. Following the coronation, the Queen and co-captain Ab Lawrence and the court were featured in the Queen's Dance.

Cheering, enthusiastic students paraded through downtown Beaverton with 12 colorful floats depicting the "Circus," to touch off homecoming activities. The floats were judged and winners announced at the assembly. The coveted sweepstakes trophy went to L'Alliance for the most outstanding entry in the parade. With traditional ceremony the homecoming princesses and their escorts were presented to the student body. Competition for the first queen of the year came to a close when co-captain Guy Hale crowned Queen Sheila Belcher choice of the varsity football squad, to rule over the Pigskin Prom.

Princesses and escorts include Tom Ayres, Robin Callahan, Ritchie Sheron, Pat Kennedy, Don Low, Barb Burnett, Ron Verlick, Queen Sheila Belcher, Sue Farley, Bert Waugh, Sandra Wood,

Homecoming Queen:

Spirit Trophy

Continuing their winning streak, L'Alliance, French club, captured the sweepstakes ribbon for the second year with their float, "Ride Those Rams." Entries were judged on originality in portraying the "Circus" theme

Kay Sexauer, representing the evaluation committee of the student council, awards the spirit trophy to Jeep Weichman, sophomore class president. Spirit trophy is awarded on the basis of outstanding conduct in the homecoming parade and assembly.

Enthusiastic cheers greet the arrival of Santa Claus during the annual Christmas assembly. Mr. Groeger donned red suit and whiskers to impersonate the jolly old fellow.

Assemblies Instill

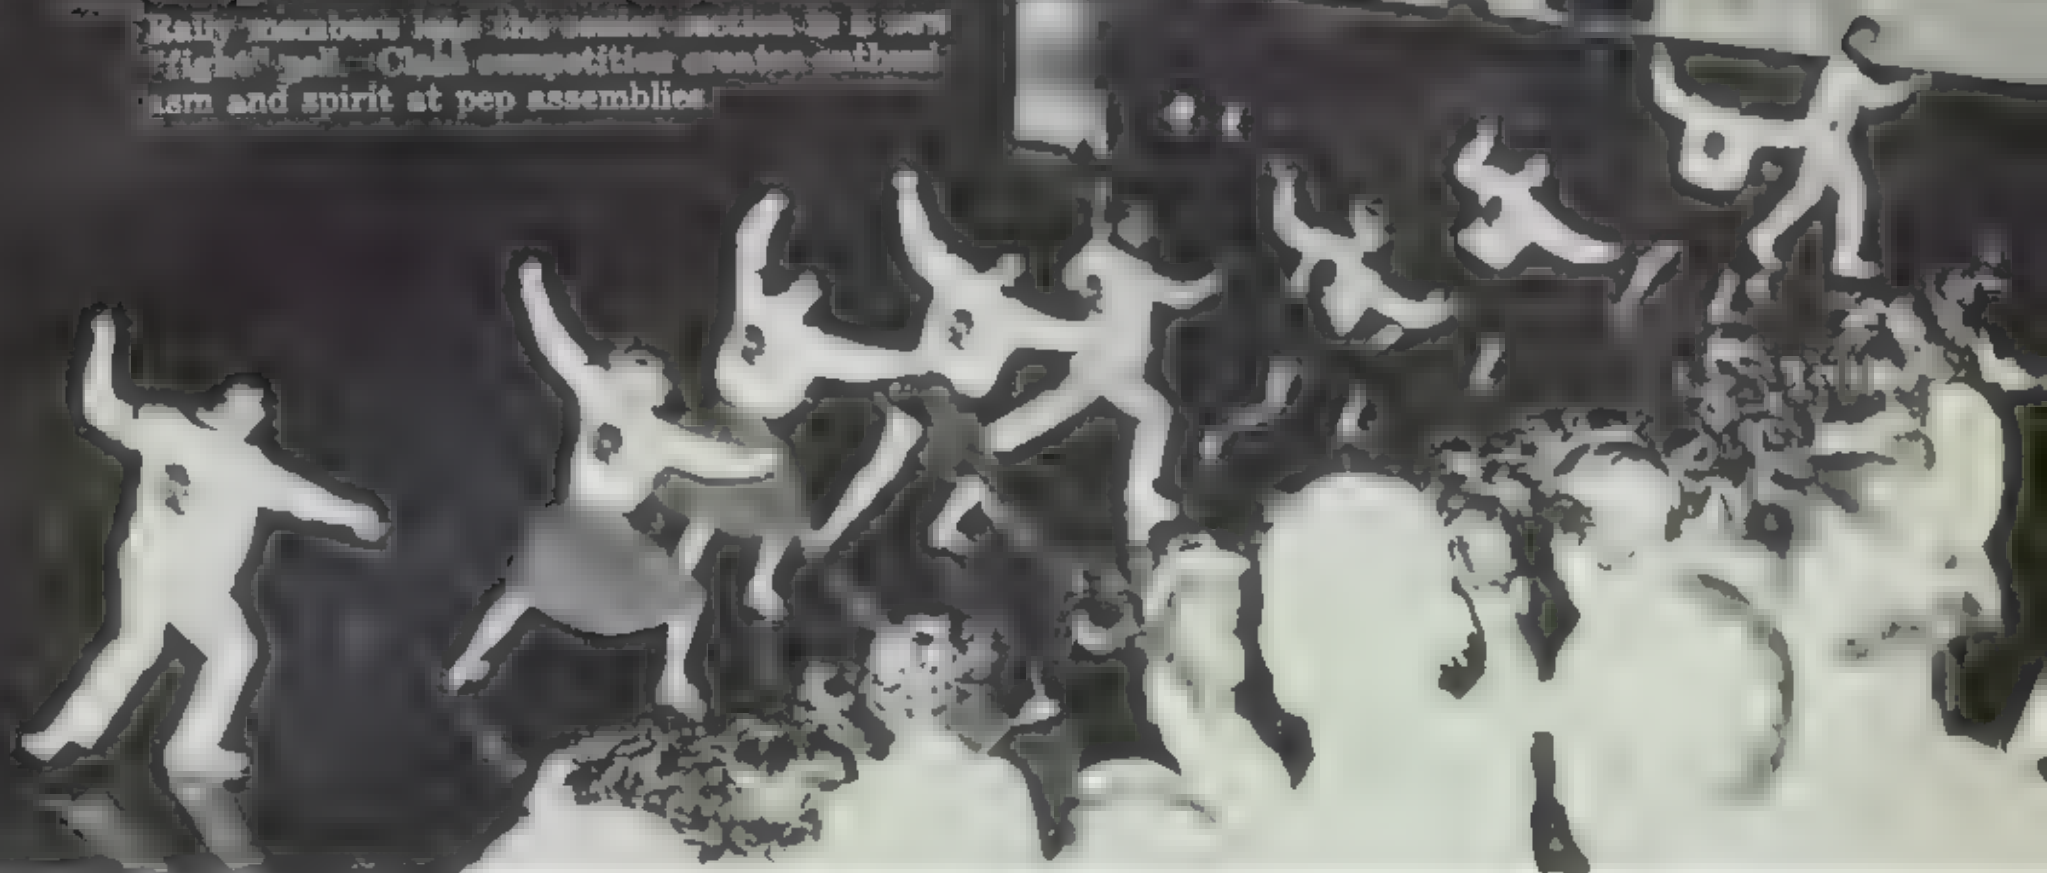

Holiday Spirit

The traditional Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies opened the holiday seasons with inspirational music and speakers. A Cappella choir and other school singing groups under the direction of Mr. Stone presented new as well as traditional selections at both assemblies. The Thanksgiving assembly, annually sponsored by Y-Teens, opened with a prayer and a Thanksgiving poem. The featured speaker, Reverend Triet, impressed on students the Thanksgiving attitude in his address entitled, "What Thanksgiving Means to Teenagers." A serious musical program at the Christmas assembly was followed by an unexpected visit to Beaverton by Santa Claus. Santa, alias of Mr. John Groeger, presented surprise gifts to several students, including exchange student Gulay Yurdal.

Linda Martin reads a poem interpreting Thanksgiving at the Y-Teen-sponsored Thanksgiving assembly. Reverend Triet, guest speaker and Susan Farley, general chairman, look on.

Rally numbers lead the winter action at I Am Right pep. Class competition creates enthusiasm and spirit at pep assemblies.

Assemblies Provide Varied Memories

Assemblies throughout the year provide Beavers with varied memories. Pep assemblies teach students new yells and bolster spirits with unusual and often hilarious stunts performed primarily by the rally squad. The presentation of the totem pole, the announcements of coming events, and the skits announcing World Clothing Week and other school projects all add to assembly agendas. Initiation of second semester officers and the awards assemblies provide more serious moments. The traditional bang of the presidential gavel and the words, "With the band playing a number and the seniors leaving first . . ." mark the end of memorable assemblies.

Professor I-Am-Right (Dez Young) and Linda Benson cook up an infallible formula to predict the winner of the forthcoming football game. Evidently something went wrong with the formula, because the Beavers suffered a 19-0 upset by the Sunset Apollos.

"Fire and Ice" Sponsored by Class of '61

Swirling to the music of the Russ Broms band, dancers welcomed in the Yuletide season at the annual Christmas formal. The Senior Class worked months in advance planning a sparkling Christmas setting around the theme "Fire and Ice." Abstract silver trees on red walls and red and silver three-dimensional trees in the center of the floor created a holiday atmosphere. Red, pink, and silver angels graced the tables for the enjoyment of relaxing couples. The first formal of the school year provided a festive evening of dancing for the approximate 150 couples it attracted.

Dancers greeted the holiday season amid red, white, and silver surroundings. Silver-winged angels were the focal point of the refreshment-area decorations.

Festive Ball Masque

Presented by L'Alliance

First prize in mask competition was awarded Jan Lounsbury and John Rhine during intermission. Masks were imperative for admission to the dance.

Paper hearts and streamers greeted dancers as they descended into the gaily decorated west gym. Masks, balloons, and paper roses lined the walls and ceiling. Students attending the ball chose Gary Helseth King of Hearts from a ballot of eight boys selected by the French club, sponsor of the dance. Now an established tradition, prizes were awarded students whose masks were judged superior on the basis of originality and cleverness. Couples danced to music by the Jim Stehn band, and the refreshment area featured Hawaiian punch and assorted cookies.

The Jim Stehn Band provided entertainment for the 200 couples who attended the Mardi Gras. Hawaiian punch and cookies were served by L'Alliance.

Girls of the Month

LINDA MARTIN
February

Always cheerful, Linda Martin demonstrated her abilities in Panamero, N.H.S., Quill and Scroll, and Y-Teens. As a senior her major service effort was expended as Co-Editor of the '61 BEAVER.

BARBARA BENSON
March

Smiling, peppy Barbara Benson's sparkling personality earned her a place on the rally squad all four years and the position of Business Manager for the HUMMER. Her membership in Panamero is indicative of her interest in foreign language.

SHARON PINGER
April

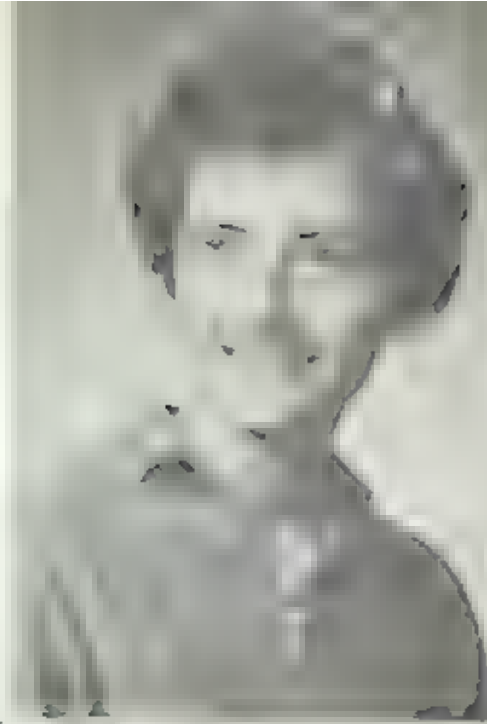

Efficient and vivacious Sharon Pinger competently carried out her many offices and projects. Sharon demonstrated her genuine sincerity as Co-Editor of the HUMMER, as a member of N.H.S., and as Girls' League Historian.

CAROL FROST
May

Carol Frost is widely known for her even disposition and cheerful attitude. She has shown diligence as a member of Girls' League Cabinet and French Club and has worked faithfully behind the scenes on countless committees.

ELAINE BEISWENGER

September

Unassuming Elaine Beiswenger has been a responsible member of N.H.S., general council, and Pep Club. For the past two years she has been an active participant in the production of the BEAVER, and also she spent last summer in Denmark as Beaverton's A.F.S. Exchange Student.

BARBARA COOK

October

Enthusiastic Barbara Cook has demonstrated school spirit by serving on the rally squad for three years. She was Beaverton's Girls' State representative and this year was chosen for the D.A.R. good citizenship award.

BECKIE BROWN

December

Hardworking and willing describe Miss December, Beckie Brown. Beckie's participation and perseverance are shown by her membership in N.H.S., her selection as Pep Club president, and her work on the BEAVER staff as Business Manager.

JOAN MACKEY

November

Friendly, capable Joan Mackey this year served the school as Girls' League president. She was a State Girls' League officer, a member of Pep Club, and an active participant in N.H.S. activities.

SHARON MONTGOMERY

January

Conscientious Sharon Montgomery has led activities in French Club, Pep Club, N.H.S., Quill and Scroll, and I.R.L. Using her journalistic talents, she worked as Student Reporter and Associate Editor of the HUMMER.

Gold Keys were awarded by Scholastic Art Awards to state winners Helen Feeney, Michele Miller, and Beth Olson, competing in fashion and print design. From approximately 4,000 entries, including every aspect of painting and design, 200 were recognized with the gold keys Senior Wendy Crawford, competing with 800 other drama pupils, won recognition as "Best Actress" in the state. An impromptu pantomime, cut from "Blithe Spirit," by Noel Coward, and classical cut from "Pygmalion" by George Bernard Shaw won her the title.

Jennifer Lehman and Jackie Venne investigate college possibilities in catalogues and handbooks available in the counseling center. Eligible for a scholarship, Jackie is a National Merit finalist; and Jennifer, state homemaker of the year was awarded a $1,500 Betty Crocker scholarship.

Students Earn Recognition for Special Talents

Seniors Kathy Rowe and Ken Hillyer, nominated by their junior English teacher, participated in the contest sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English. Two tests, three compositions, and supporting letters from the high school earned Ken state recognition in 1960 and Kathy a runner-up position.

Trips to Washington D.C., Boston, and New York were part of the early awards announced in fields of home economics, science, art, dramatics, and scholarship. Other special awards will be announced at the traditional senior assembly in late spring.

Finalists for the exchange student program are Missy Crawford, Jim Oberst, and Lou Ann Ritchie. Selected by the A.F.S. in New York, each submitted an application and was interviewed by a local committee.

Science Fair Features

Departments of biological science, physical science, and mathematics are represented in the annual B.H.S. science fair. Chairman Steve Wagner and junior chairman Bob Masters, together with B.H.S. science teachers and students, planned the event which will display 450 projects. Each project is evaluated on creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, technical skill, clarity, and dramatic ability, and is rewarded accordingly. Open to the public, the fair is viewed annually by citizens and students of the community and proves to be one of the school's largest attractions.

Project "Carnivorous Plants" by John Lehman places second in the junior biological division. Seniors Patty Jones and Sue Kupfur are pictured during "fair time" which continued three days.

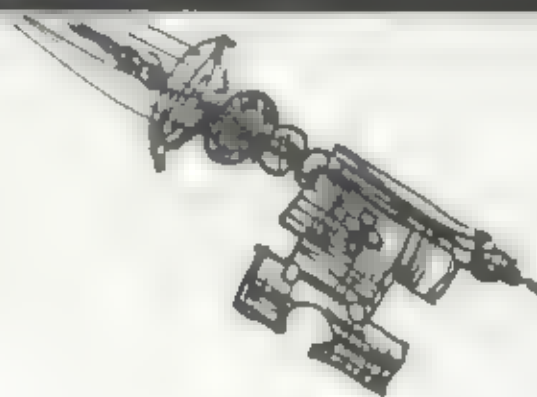

450 Projects

"Apparent Retention in Paramecium Caudatum" won a first place medal for senior Wayne Hubble. Junior, Bill Craig inspects project, one of nine winners in the senior biological division.

"Light and the Plant Kingdom" was submitted to the Freshman-Sophomore biological division of the Science Fair by Steve Smith. About 120 entries were included in this division.

The Pops Concert, annually presented by the 75-piece Beaverton band, featured as a special attraction Monte Ballou and his "Castle Jazz Band," a Dixieland jazz sextet well known in the Northwest for recordings as well as personal appearances. The concert began with the Beaverton band playing the "Uncle Henry March," followed by Rogers and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music." After a brief intermission, Monte Ballou and his "Castle Jazz Band" performed in their famed Dixieland style. The concert was concluded with numbers from the B. H. S. band, including "March to the Battle of Jazz" featuring a drum duet.

Aftergame Dances Provide Student Recreation

Sponsored by the student body, school clubs, and classes to earn expense money, the aftergame dances began with the "Hello Hop," following the Gresham football game. Titles such as "Incognito Interlude," "Hemline Hop," and "Soviet Stomp" appeared on posters as organizational activities got under way. Helping to increase attendance was the entertainment which included records spun by Mr. Arnold and Mr. Wilson, an all-faculty dance band, songs by the Easy Tones, the Jim Baker Quartet, and a specially arranged student dance band.

Disk jockeys Mr. Everett Arnold, Tom Van Lunen, and Ron Kennedy spin popular records at aftergame dance "Incognito Interlude." Sponsored by the BEAVER staff, the beatnik theme featured dark glasses and a black and white color scheme.

American Field Service Offers Opportunities Abroad

Elaine Beiswenger

A Danish dairy farm and a four-member family met Elaine when she arrived in Stenderup after nine days of ocean travel from Montreal to Holland and a day-long train ride. As an A. F. S. exchange student, Elaine spent seven summer weeks learning the culture and language of Denmark. Before sailing for home, she spent a week in Copenhagen. Elaine remembers most the Danish coffee hours accompanied by her "mother's" coffee bread.

*A*n A.F.S. exchange student from an American school in Istanbul, Turkey, Gulay is spending the entire year at the home of the Kreitzer family. Besides taking seven courses, of which biology is a favorite, she is a member of Executive Cabinet and International Relations League. Originally from Adana, Turkey, Gulay will be returning in July after a month's tour of the United States. She has three remaining years of school before she will be able to attend college.

Kay Woodcock

*B*efore meeting her family, Kay, participating in the A.F.S. school program, spent five weeks in a language training camp conducted in Molle, Sweden. Living in Medemora with a family of four, she attended school five and a half days a week where math, Swedish, English, history, geography, physics, chemistry, art, and music were included in her academic studies. During spare moments Kay learned how to ski and ice skate. Highlights of her experience were two weeks at Girl Scout Camp, a two-week tour of Sweden which took her above the Arctic Circle, a visit to Parliament, and a visit to Copenhagen.

The clothing drive opened at Beaverton with school and class competition. The Beavers, accumulating 19,000 pounds and competing with the Apollos, lost to Sunset's 24,000 pounds for the second year. Beaverton classes collecting record amounts of clothes included those of Mr. Frank Mazzio, 1,305 pounds; Mr. Bill Kang, 1,129; Mr. John Feichtinger, 1,126; and Mr. Jack Boden, 979.

Beaverton student body presidents, Ab Lawrence and Gary Bech, promise a clean sweep for the Sunset gym as compensation for a Beaver loss of the clothing drive. An Apollo banner is also displayed in the Beaverton trophy case.

National Thespians Earns Recognition with One-Acts

"What do you know about women?" questions Fritz (Mike Kohloff). "I know a lot about my horse, she's a mare," Hans (Dick Dunets) relates as "Shoemaker's Wife" gets under way

Three Thespian members won recognition in the Metro League One-Act Play Festival held in December at Sunset High School. In "The Shoemaker's Wife," Dick Dunets won a superior rating and Mike Kohloff and Karney Platt earned excellent ratings. "The Shoemaker's Wife," Beaverton's representative at the festival, was chosen from four one-act plays presented by the troupe in a Thespian meeting. The other three plays included "Early Frost," "Antic Spring," and the recognition scene from "Anastasia." New lighting and equipment now enable the drama department to use the Little Theater for the presentation of one-act plays.

Insane Hanna (Margaret Day), believing Alice (Patty Murphy) to be the ghost of the deceased Lydia, endeavors to enclose her in a box as Louise (Jan Smith) stares in amazement. The discovery of Lydia's body, fifty years in a trunk, climaxes "Early Frost"

"They're in love!" explains Ginger (Irene Herring) to Robert (Frank Leonetti) as Gwendolyn (Linda Sidell) relaxes in Sam's (Nick Stein) arms during a picnic scene. "Antic Spring" is a comedy emphasizing pantomime and character portrayal.

F.S. Week Raises Funds For Exchange Program

A .F.S. Week, held in early April in support of the American Field Service program, began when eight foreign exchange students attending schools in the surrounding area spoke at an international-flavored assembly. Slave bonds were sold in the community, entitling the owner to an hour of work from a B.H.S. student. Highlighting the week was the faculty's challenge to the Sunset faculty to a basketball game which was followed by an A.F.S. dance in the West Gym. All funds received from the various activities went to the support of the American Field Service.

'Varsity Drag'

Honors Lettermen

An informal atmosphere greeted dancers at the Pep Club-sponsored "Varsity Drag." Couples clad in bermudas and capris enjoyed the refreshment area while reclining on gay mats placed on the floor. The main attraction of the evening was the presentation of the court composed of five senior boys, each representing a major sport. The man chosen by the student body as most valuable athlete in his sport was proclaimed Mr. Varsity at the dance. Orange and black letters decorated the walls while couples danced to records provided by a popular disc jockey.

Organizations

Thirty-four Beaverton organizations, including twenty-four chartered clubs, compose the nucleus of extra-curricular activities. Sporting an average membership of 81, organizations hold meetings seven times a month, with 86 per cent in attendance. At elections held twice a year, four officers are selected, and six clubs hold formal induction ceremonies.

Activities of B.H.S. organizations are as varied as their names and purposes. Banquets and dances are major yearly functions of six clubs; other activities of organizations are: selling of decals, helping with the blood mobile, sponsoring aqua shows, selling Homecoming mums, and supplying educational aids for use in a linguistic program in Peru. Thus, B.H.S. organizations contribute to social as well as service activities.

Gary Bech
President

*A*n active student during his years at Beaverton, Gary Bech proved he was qualified to lead the student body with sincerity and efficiency. He has established an outstanding record at Beaverton, tempering extra-curricular activities with high academic achievement. Gary gained experience as Sophomore Class President, and served as a Boys' League officer for two years. Moreover, he is a member of National Honor Society, and has played basketball and varsity baseball. Gary's friendliness and desire to lend a helping hand where it is needed have encouraged other students to participate in more activities and consequently have produced a united and spirited student body.

Ab Lawrence
President

Effectively directing student government during the second semester, Ab Lawrence called upon his experience gained last year when he served Beaverton as Student Body Vice President. Among his varied accomplishments, Ab was co-captain of the varsity football team, a member of the ski team, and Latin Club President. He became a part of student government soon after he entered BHS as he was elected Freshman Class President, Sophomore Class Vice President, and a member of general council. Besides all of his activities, Ab has still found time to devote to studies, which is shown by his three-year membership in National Honor Society. Ab's ability for leadership and his friendly personality have made him a highly respected and capable president.

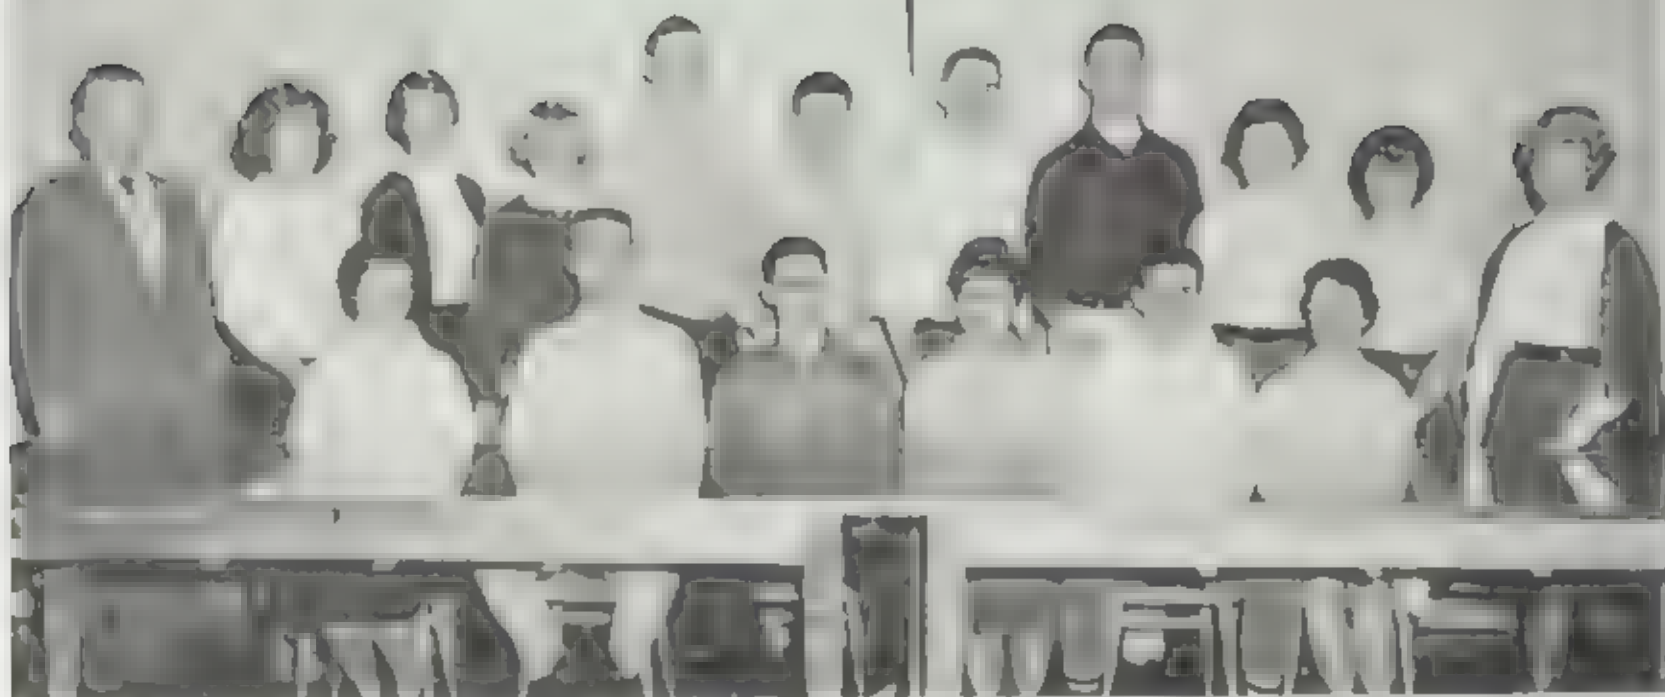

Second Semester Officers

Capably Plan

Spring Activities

Second semester student body officers discuss the agenda for their first executive cabinet meeting which oriented the new members in their official duties.

Executive Cabinet.

*E*xecutive Cabinet strived to meet several goals: to promote school spirit, to improve school-community relations, to stimulate student participation in school affairs, and to better inform students of school affairs. Some members represented Beaverton at the summer workshop in Eugene and at Region III conferences, which provided training for effective student leadership. Other duties included the planning of Hello Week; assemblies, and Homecoming, a constitution revision, and the evaluation of all these activities so that they may be carried out more efficiently and effectively in the future.

*I*nterclub Council, composed of one representative from each Beaverton club, primarily supports the policies decided upon by Executive Cabinet. In addition to regulating and coordinating club activities, the Council handles the problems of the individual clubs. Each member club is evaluated according to fulfillment of stated purposes, constant representation at Interclub, regularness of club meetings, and promptness in filling out term reports. This year's council was confronted with the responsibility of paying for a reostat which regulates lighting for dances, to be used in the West Gym.

General Council Handles Questions.

Bert Waugh and Al Jubitz, Student Body Vice Presidents, led a general council which effectively performed its various tasks and projects. Due to efforts of the council, the trophy case was rearranged and permission to publish daily lunch menus was obtained. The council carried out the goals of executive cabinet by urging greater student participation in pep assemblies and student elections. Also, members helped greatly in promoting the annual clothing drive competition between Beaverton and Sunset.

Leadership and Scholarship

National Honor Society, whose members are selected annually by faculty members on the basis of scholarship, service, leadership, and character, may include a maximum of 20 per cent of the seniors, juniors, and sophomores. New members, including 10 seniors, 14 juniors, and 20 sophomores, were announced in a fall assembly and presented with traditional blue and gold membership ribbons.

Following a new induction procedure, members were inducted at a dessert held for old and new members and their parents. At this time, new members took the National Honor Society pledge and were formally admitted to the club as probationary members. After a year of membership, they will become active members able to participate in club activities and offices.

Quill and Scroll Encourages Journalistic Excellence

An international honorary society for high school students in the upper third of their class, Quill and Scroll recognizes superior work in some aspect of journalism. Excellence in writing, editing, or business management, a recommendation by the school principal or publication adviser, and approval by the executive secretary of the society qualify students for membership.

The Publications' Board, consisting of publications' advisers, activity director, head counselors, publications' editors, and student body presidents, serves as an advisory body for both publications. Evaluating the qualifications of new publication officers and considering the eligibility of student body reporters are the major responsibilities of the board.

Thespian Troupe 1634 of B. H. S. is a branch of a national honorary organization which promotes the advancement of dramatic arts on the secondary level. Evening meetings held during the year are open to any person interested in dramatics. Activities of the group included sponsoring a night of one-act plays which featured "The Shoemaker's Wife," and providing the production group for "The Night of January 16th," "The Boy Friend," and the school variety show "Patterns in Magic." At the Oregon Drama Conference held in Eugene, Thespian Wendy Crawford took top honors as best actress, and Dick Dunets and Bev Hesse were finalists. Mr. Tolliver, Thespian adviser, has been selected director of next year's State Drama Conference; and Beaverton's troupe will act as host.

Spirit and Service Typify Band Activities

Greeting students with brisk marches at pep assemblies, providing colorful programs during athletic functions, presenting annual "Pops" and Spring Concerts, performing for grade school assemblies and spreading good will at the Shrine Crippled Children's Christmas Party are only a few of the functions of the 75-piece, 1960 Beaverton band. Other appearances were made at the annual Rose Festival parade, Miss Oregon Contest at Seaside, Little League Jamboree at Multnomah Stadium, the O.S.C.—U. of O. freshman football game, and Metro League Band Festival at Sunset High School.

The Rhythm-Heirs, student dance band, provided distinctive melodies for the Campaign Cotillion, Boys' and Girls' League semi-formal, several aftergame dances, as well as the student body variety show and Spring Reign. The Rhythm-Heirs meet once a week during the school year in evening rehearsals to give more advanced musicians the opportunity to learn and perform modern dance music.

Director Mr. Al Robertson, President Mike Farrell, and Vice-President Paul Leavens discuss a new arrangement.

Diversity is the keynote of the Choral Music Department's activities this year. A Cappella Choir, Girls' Chorus, and Boys' Chorus display their musicianship by participating in the Christmas concert, the variety show, and the Metro Choir Festival. They also sing at several grade schools in the surrounding area. Presenting songs in foreign languages was a unique feature of the groups. After practicing with foreign language teachers to perfect pronunciation, the groups added this new type of song to their repertoire. The culmination of all the hours of training was the spring operetta, "The Boy Friend."

Orchestra Enriches School Program

*M*r. Jack Lind took over direction of the Beaverton orchestra this year and began the year's activities by playing a number of concerts at surrounding elementary schools. Interesting arrangements were performed at the fall concert where the orchestra and choir combined their talents. Appearances at the annual Christmas and spring concerts, hosting the Metro Orchestra Festival, and performing at Baccalaureate and graduation highlighted the year's activities.

Experimental units in the study of humanities, the fields of classical arts and literature in connection with man, was effectively introduced into the curriculum. Students were able to see the relationship of music to the other arts in various periods of history.

Future Nurses Aid Underprivileged

First and second semester officers of Future Nurses Judy Kee, Donna Sandstrom, Kathleen Marshall, Marilyn Rogers, Patty Mack, and Lynda Thornburg plan the agenda for the next meeting.

This fall the Future Nurses began their third year as a chartered club at Beaverton. During the year, they sponsored several projects, including making tray favors for an old peoples' home at Thanksgiving, giving a basket of food and presents to a needy family, and visiting Doernbecher Children's Hospital. Linda Alrick, a Beaverton graduate who is taking nurses' training at Emanuel Hospital in Portland, spoke to the club, outlining the entrance requirements, courses of study, and social life involved in becoming a student nurse.

Beaver Reviews Pageantry of Year

Beginning work on the 1961 Beaver early in the summer, staffers spend long hours compiling the record of this school year. Selling advertising for the Beavertale, (student directory) publishing and selling the directory, scheduling pictures, planning layouts, writing copy and meeting deadlines are among the duties of the staff members. Preparation of dedication, theme and style call for cooperation and initiation within Room 121.

With the yearbook at the publishers junior staffers prepare the supplement which includes spring activities. Finally the book, the product of the staff's best effort is distributed for student approval.

Hummer Staff Evences Journalistic Proficiency

Constantly working against deadlines, the Hummer staff members present news covering all facets of school life as they attempt to keep the student body well informed. Alert reporters gather news for the front page while others work on editorials which draw attention to school policies and student problems. Feature items and popular columns such as "Mr. Beaver" are widely read. The boys find the last page with details of such athletic events as football, wrestling, track and baseball of vital interest. Advertising copy, photography and cartoons are additional features that complete the bi-monthly paper.

Co-Editor Jennifer Lehman, Business Manager Barbara Benson, Co-Editor Sharon Pinger, and Associate Editor Sherry Montgomery review materials for next issue of Hummer. These staffers report at 6:00 a.m., the Thursday before publication, to the Valley News print shop to put the paper to bed.

porter; Linda Ekberg, treasurer; Joan Mackey, president; Beckie Brown, secretary; and Missy Crawford, vice president.

Gulay Yurdal and Elaine Beiswenger, center, were guests at the Girls' League tea. Gulay told about Turkey, her native country; and Elaine reviewed her experiences in Denmark.

Girls' League commences the year's activities with the traditional Big and Little Sister Party. To help freshmen and transfer students become better acquainted with other league members and to give a preview of the first year at Beaverton, each girl is assigned a "big sister" — a junior or senior girl. "Campaign Cotillion," the semi-formal dance jointly sponsored with Boys' League, featured the 1960 presidential elections. Service is stressed during the holidays as food baskets are prepared for needy families and Christmas gifts are given to Hillcrest School for Girls. Other holiday activities include caroling and assisting with AFS Christmas card sales. A Father-Daughter banquet, a Mother-Daughter tea, and a college tea for high school seniors and college freshmen complete the year's activities.

Boys' League President Glen Brisbane works closely with Mr. Perry, advisor, as the two plan policies of the all-boy B.H.S. organization.

Boys League Functions

Boys' League, aiming to promote unity and fellowship among B.H.S. boys, co-sponsored the annual semi-formal dance with Girls' League in late fall. With politics before the eyes of the nation, "Campaign Cotillion" was selected as the dance theme. Also reflecting political atmosphere, a Boys' League assembly featured Dr. Charles White from Portland State College, who spoke on campaign techniques. Working in close cooperation with the advisor, Mr. Perry, the officers of Boys' League strive to make every boy at Beaverton feel he is an important part of the school.

French Club officers Sharon Pinger, Helen Feeney, president, Nancy Hager, Sandy Wood, and Sherrie Montgomery discuss the possibility of holding a candy sale after school to raise money for the annual Mardi Gras.

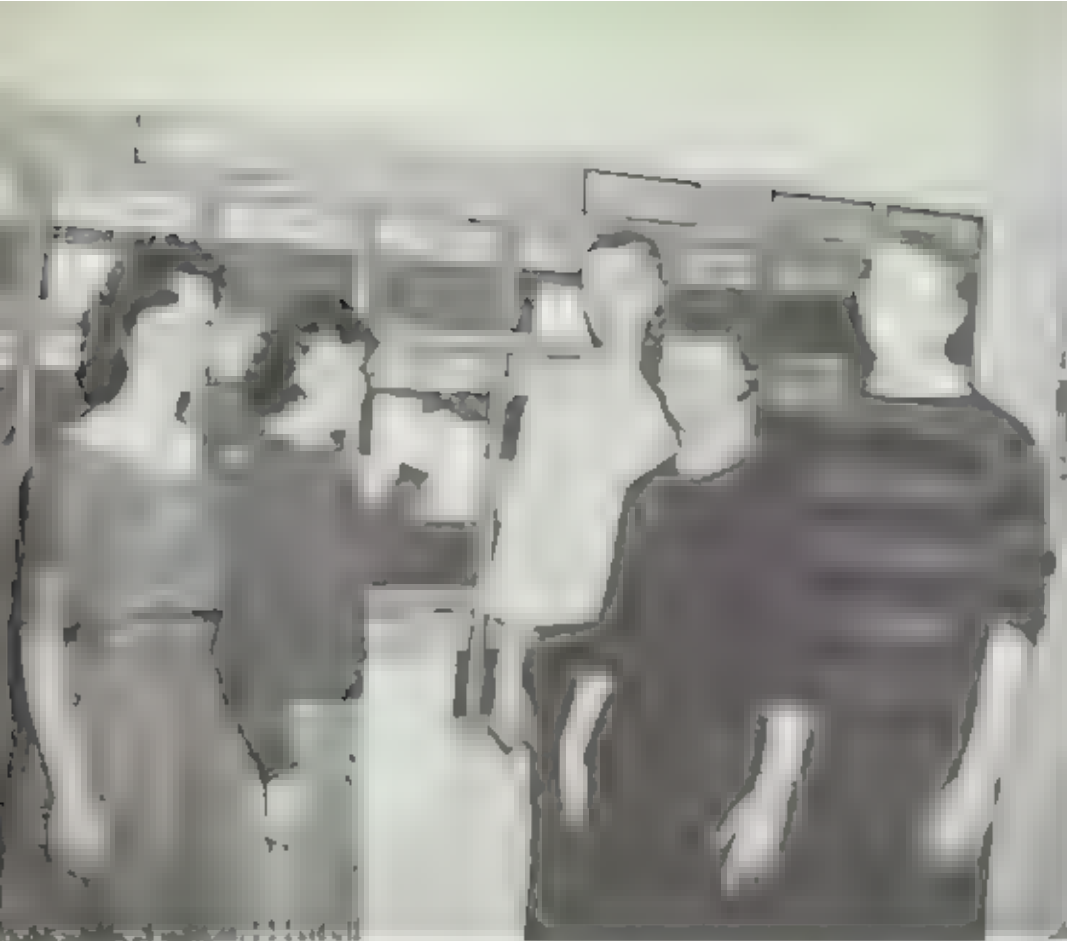

L'Alliance kicked off an exciting year by winning the sweepstakes prize for their float, Carrousel, in the annual Homecoming parade. In December an aftergame dance, "Mothball," increased the treasury to support the traditional Mardi Gras Ball, girl ask boy this year, held in February. In addition to these activities, French Club members attended meetings featuring foreign speakers and colored slides. The January induction-banquet was well attended by the largest membership L'Alliance has ever had.

Second semester Latin Club officers Lea Moshofsky, Nancy Day, Tom Maynard, Kenna Taylor, and Joe Reid double check the list of committee chairmen for their annual banquet.

Established as an organization for the promotion of interest in Roman culture and language, Fasces held meetings throughout the year and co-sponsored a movie with Gesellschaft. The induction of members, presented in standard Roman fashion, featured a banquet in which togas and tunics were worn by the initiative "slaves" who served a sumptuous spread to the "senators." "Corral Capers," western-themed Fasces aftergame dance, encouraged attendants to don western clothing. Latin Club ended the year by sending representatives to the State Language Competition held in Eugene in the spring.

Panamero members play acutron, a Mexican game, at the annual Christmas party. Other Spanish games, including the traditional breaking of the pinata, were featured.

*P*anamero, which strives to promote friendly relations with Latin American neighbors, holds monthly meetings open to all second-year Spanish students. In addition, cupcake sales are conducted to raise money for a literary fund and to help defray the costs of state foreign language competition, held each spring in Eugene.

Panamero's program is highlighted by the annual Christmas celebration. Members reenact the posadas, which illustrate the search for lodging by Mary and Joseph. Spanish Christmas carols are sung, and the evening is climaxed with the breaking of the pinata, a traditional Spanish festive game.

German Club Studies Foreign Cultures

Gesellschaft officers Ardabeth Ebeling, Judi Smith, Judi Ehlen, and Bob Larson plan a club meeting to include a guest speaker.

German Club, open to any student enrolled in a German class, or to exchange or foreign students who speak the language, plans meetings and activities around German language, culture, and countries. Meetings held throughout the school year included several guest speakers: Mr. Zimmer, who described a Christmas in Germany; Mrs. Smith, who spoke on her trip through Europe; and Mr. Groeger, who told about his recent visit to Germany.

At a fall induction new members were given small German flags to wear. Following this, cookies and punch were served. Later in the year, members spent several afternoons cooking German cookies, such as Spritz and gingerbread men, which they sold during the lunch periods. Also among their activities was a movie which they sponsored jointly with Latin Club.

Safety and good sportsmanship are heavily stressed by Rifle Club. Besides promoting rifle safety, the club also provides an opportunity for competitive shooting. Meetings held every Thursday night at the Hillsboro High rifle range consist of a short business meeting followed by practice of the various shooting positions.

Matches often are held among the members to refresh techniques and procedures associated with formal matches held at various times throughout the year in the Portland area. The club is affiliated with Beaverton High and the National Rifle Association. Dr. Lee Thompson, main advisor,, is assisted by Mr. Max White and Mr. Walt Fain.

Ski B's Increase Skills on Mt. Hood Slopes

This winter, despite poor snow conditions, the Beaverton Ski B's went to Mt. Hood every weekend. Some members participated in ski lessons, sponsored by the club through the Mt. Hood Ski School, while the more advanced skiers raced on the school team. However, the majority of the club neither took lessons nor skied on the team, but merely skied for pleasure. The meetings during the year featured a fashion show and several films on skiing.

Girls' Recreation Association is a state-wide organization for girls who wish to participate in recreational activities and work toward earning athletic awards. Points, given for approved activities in which members participate, qualify them to purchase the club blazer and pin.

In addition to regular meetings during the year, the Beaverton club spent much time participating in sports such as bowling and swimming. Among their projects were a cupcake sale and a "Dilly-bar" sale. They also attended several play days, which include supervised games and sports, with girls from surrounding schools. At the end of the year, the outstanding senior member was awarded an achievement cup at the senior assembly.

Beavertones Appear in Public Programs

Beavertones, a selected group of vocalists from A Capella choir, participates in civic as well as school affairs. Entertaining frequently for church groups, P. T. A., and other community organizations are among the ensemble's activities. Some of this year's performances were for Eastern Star, Beaverton P.T.A., the Variety Show, Christmas assembly and concert, and the solo and ensemble contest held in March at Portland State.

At regular rehearsals during the week, supervised and directed by Mr. Stone, choral music instructor, the group polishes novelty and traditional numbers to be used as entertainment. Attire worn by the Beavertones varies from year to year, with this year's boys wearing white dinner jackets and contrasting cummerbunds and girls wearing green brocade sheath dresses.

The Easy Tones- Dick Bradbury, Dez Young, Chuck Guerin, and Bill Carroll- realize that plenty of practice is necessary for excellence of performance. This "group within a group" is well-known for relaxed and informal ballad singing.

Pep Club Adds Spirit to Games

Every Wednesday and Thursday afternoon during football and basketball season will find energetic Pep Club members making hall decorations. Their purpose in designing these signs and figures is to promote spirit and attendance of games.

Throughout the football and basketball seasons the Pep Club did much to promote spirit and enthusiasm at the games. During the year, the club planned the football and basketball banquets and sponsored the annual Pigskin Prom. The 160-member club planned formal inductions for its semester officers and in the spring sponsored the annual Pep Club dance. In addition, the girls spent many tedious hours on Thursday afternoons making hall decorations in support of athletic teams.

Pep Club girls make a colorful section at basketball games. Throughout the year at all football and basketball games their enthusiasm does much to create spirit for athletic teams.

One of Pep Club's many projects was making a float for the Homecoming Parade. Their entry followed the theme of the parade "Circus" with the title "Hit 'Em Again."

Spirited Junior Varsity rally members Mary Keizer, Pat Ricks, Gretchen Young, and Gretchen Rittenour practice a new routine designed to stimulate student enthusiasm.

Rally Squad Intensifies School Spirit

Varsity, J. V., and frosh yell squads are a familiar sight at any B. H. S. pep assembly or game. Aided by colored pom-poms, gay uniforms, and megaphones, the pep squads fulfill their duty of spurring the athletic teams on to do their best. Varsity rally began practices by attending the annual summer rally clinic at Oregon State College, returning with first place in the large-rally division and with new yell ideas. The annual mum sale during homecoming week raises funds to send the varsity-elect to the rally clinic. Semiweekly rehearsals perfect dance routines, formations and yells which are aimed toward creating school spirit and team support.

Rhythm B's Execute Intricate Routines

Pat Schisler, line captain, Nina Hunt, assistant to the advisor, and Judy Muncey, line captain, share an amusing incident as they pause from leading the Rhythm B's.

Rhythm B's, the Beaverton dancing group in its fourth year, rehearses three times weekly. Choreography and music are carefully selected, dance routines are prepared, and the final presentation is viewed by the student body at athletic activities and pep assemblies. In addition, the girls performed at the U. of O.-O.S.C. frosh game at Multnomah Stadium, the Shrine Crippled Children's Christmas Party, the Spring Reign Coronation, and the annual Rose Festival parade. One of the more recent organizations at Beaverton, the Rhythm-B's are nevertheless noted for consistently effective performances throughout the year.

Synchronettes Exhibit Precision Swimming

*W*eekly early-morning practice to learn new strokes and perfect old ones account for precision routines exhibited by Synchronettes. The swimmers, organized three years ago, synchronize to background music, using waterproof costumes over bathing suits. Skirts, gloves, decorated bathing caps, and hats complete outfits. The major project of the year is traditionally the aqua show honoring the Spring Reign queen and her court.

I.R.L. officers Linda Nelson, Roy Wilson, Barb Taylor, and Bob Larson co-ordinated and administered the club's many activities.

The International Relations League, comprised of seventy members, this year boasted an approximate 95% average attendance. The League's projects included serving at the community United Nations dinner, presenting an all-school movie, Mr. Roberts, and sponsoring an aftergame dance, Revolutionary Romp. In addition, the club sent eleven delegates to the International Relations League convention, held on the University of Oregon campus from March 2 to March 4. In the spring, members held a joint I. R. L. banquet with Woodrow Wilson's League.

F.T.A. Investigates Teaching Opportunities

In a quiet corner of the school library, F.T.A. officers Helen Schwab, Mary Adams, Dianne Carlton, and Carolyn Huff gather material concerning student guidance.

F.T.A. is sponsored by the Oregon Education Association and the National Education Association in an effort to interest the best students in the teaching profession. Throughout the year, this objective is furthered by means of qualified speakers in the field, and by observations in surrounding grade schools. One of the guest speakers, Mr. Rod Kvistad, Principal of McKay School, spoke on what is expected of an elementary teacher; "Opportunities of Teaching" was the topic of Mr. Gene Freese of Beaverton High School.

On a field trip to Portland, the club was taken on a guided tour through the O.E.A. building. In the spring, some senior members were able to gain first-hand knowledge of the teaching situation as student observers at Merle Davies School.

Students with a special interest in giving service to their fellow men, community, and nation participated in the active program of Junior Red Cross. Monthly meetings often featured guest speakers, including Elaine Beiswenger, who told about her stay in Denmark as an exchange student, and Superintendent Herbert Armstrong, who spoke on Junior Red Cross.

Several projects included an enrollment drive, a sale of Beaverton decals, and a sale of balloons at games. A traditional service project performed during the first of the year, members advertised the blood mobile with posters in Beaverton. Beaverton shut-in students were of special interest to J. R. C. members who visited them during the Christmas holidays.

Fire Squad Encourages

Fire Squad officers Dennis Hall and Pat McGann consider plans for a fire drill. Directions for evacuation posted in each room and student cooperation made the drills very successful.

Constantly working towards shortened evacuation time, Fire Squad has effectively conducted both fire and civil defense drills this year. Members must see that the students remain orderly while clearing the building quickly. Also, doors must be manned, all windows must be closed, and all lights turned off. Fire drills during an assembly and between classes helped better prepare students for an actual emergency. Civil defense drills teach students the proper way in which to conduct themselves in case of an air raid in the Portland area. Fire Squad's aftergame dance, "Pyro Tanza," helped pay for their badges and pins.

Service is the watchword of Winged "B". This honorary organization composed of all Beaverton lettermen is responsible for a variety of projects, including aiding game officials punching student body cards, and collecting tickets at sporting events. The scoreboard, illuminated roster board, and game schedule in the East Gym lobby are also maintained by the club. Accredited to efforts of the organization is the restoration of the traditional victory bell at basketball games. The last aftergame dance of the year, "Ooh Poo Pa Do," was presented by the lettermen.

Successful Science Fair

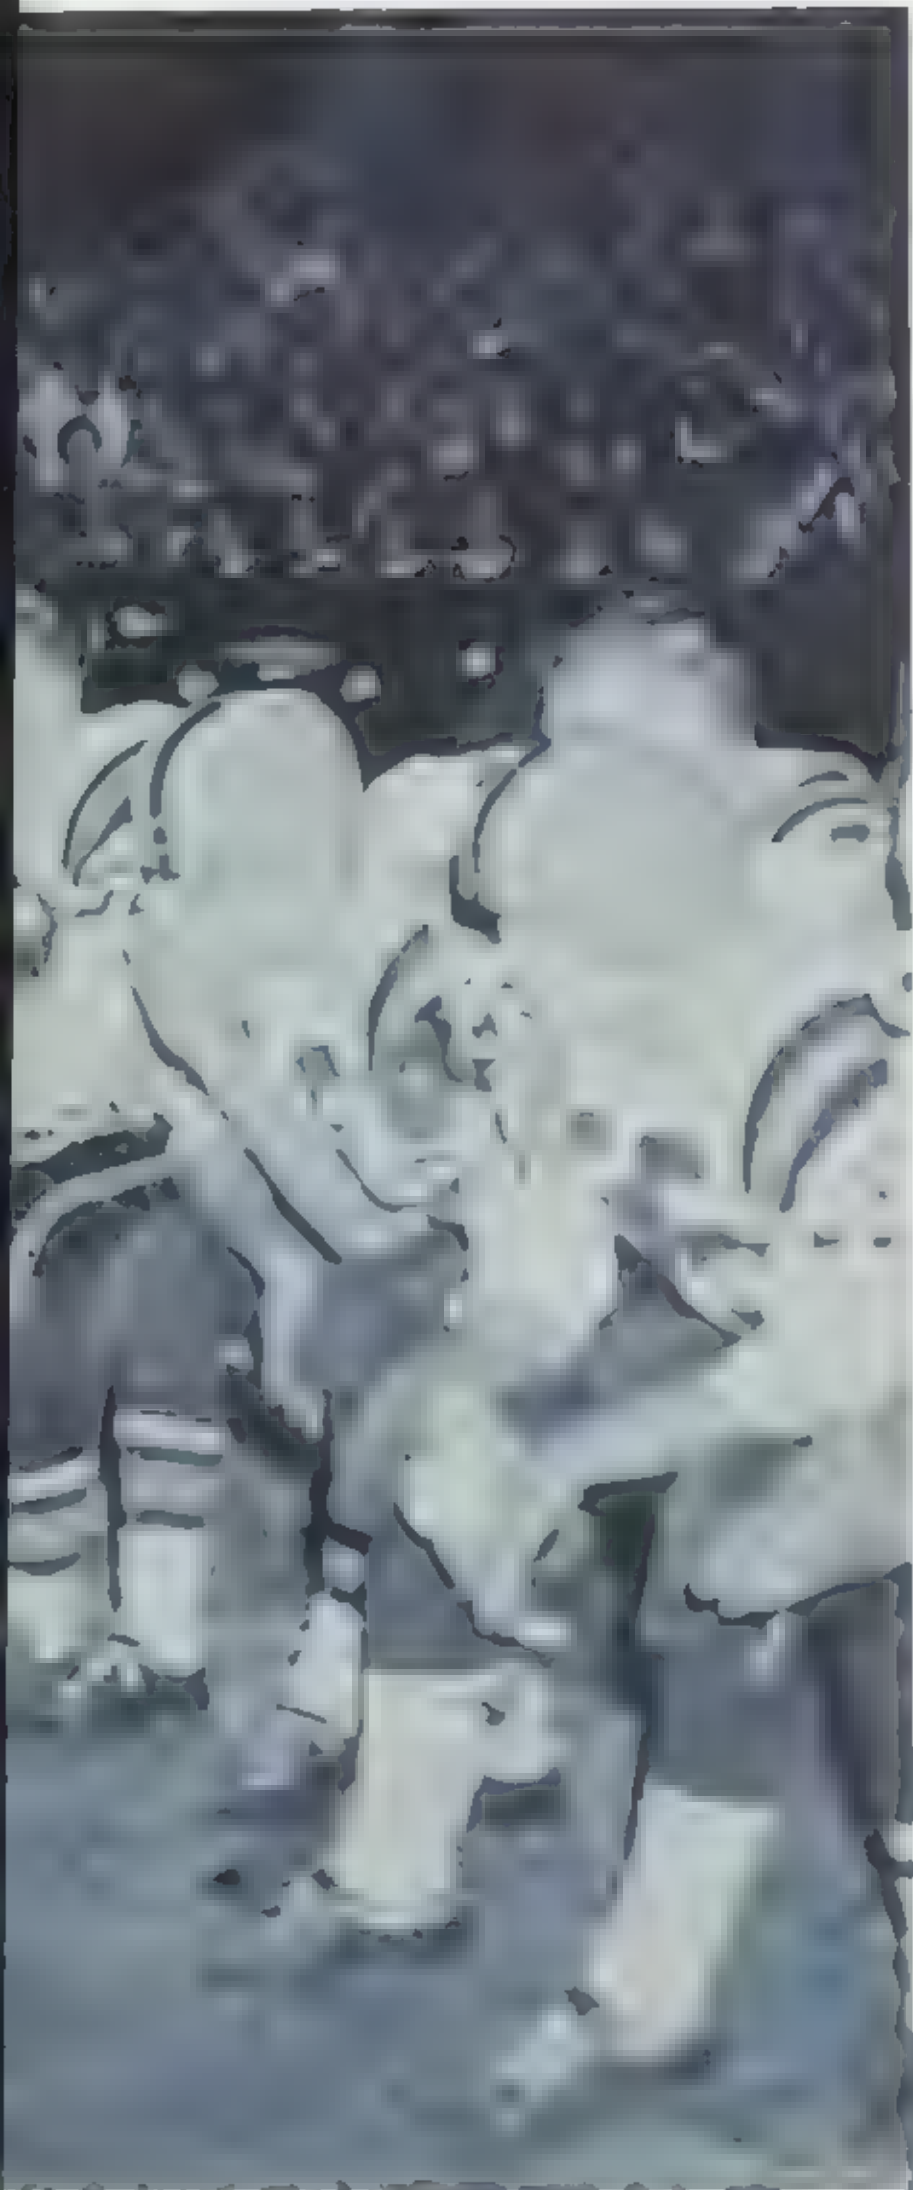

Up N' Atom highlighted a successful year with its annual Science Fair held for four days in March. A fuller program of demonstrations was presented in a sideshow which heightened general interest. Club meetings featured stimulating speakers who discussed various areas of science including books, projects and astronomy. Science Club members also busied themselves with their homecoming float and a field trip to the Carlton Research Laboratories in Portland. Five boys from the Science Club helped coordinate and set up apparatus for the Atomic Energy Assembly, a special assembly this year of particular interest to Science students which featured Mr. Floyd R. Davis, a speaker from the Atomic Energy Commission.

Sports

League sports involve students who participate in football, basketball, baseball, wrestling, swimming, tennis, golf, and other athletic activities. Aimed primarily at building athletes with good sportsmanship, the program first demands academic success by requiring eligibility cards from teachers.

Approximately 195 participants lettered in various sports this year. Junior Varsity and Freshmen team members earned certificates of participation in recognition of perseverance and hard work throughout the season. In addition to the league program, all freshmen and sophomores are required to take Physical Education and Health, while juniors and seniors may elect an advanced physical education course.

The enlarged Metro League added two games to Beaverton's regular schedule slate. Thus the team lost valuable pre-season experience for regular contests. When the Beavers faced David Douglas, the Highlanders quickly discovered these defects and spotted them for a 6 point edge in the first quarter. The iron-clad Scottish defense blanked the Beavers, 26-0.

Familiar sight at the four home games played this season were co-captains Guy Hale and Ab Lawrence leading the 36-player squad into the field for warm-ups. The team ended fifth in Metro League standings.

Milwaukie-Beaverton Battle to Deadlock

Following the opener, Beaverton downed Gresham's Gophers, 27-0, with an alert defense and 322 yards netted by the offense. Against powerful Milwaukie, Beaverton held the Mustang's offense to 7 points as the teams battled to a tie. The Sunset Apollos initiated a traditional rivalry by jumping ahead 6-0 at halftime and, with two fourth-quarter touchdowns, upset the Beavers and their title hopes. However, in the next game the Flattails defeated Clackamas, 20-13; the team further improved their league standings by parlaying a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to defeat Centennial, 19-7.

Great Team Effort Upsets Astoria

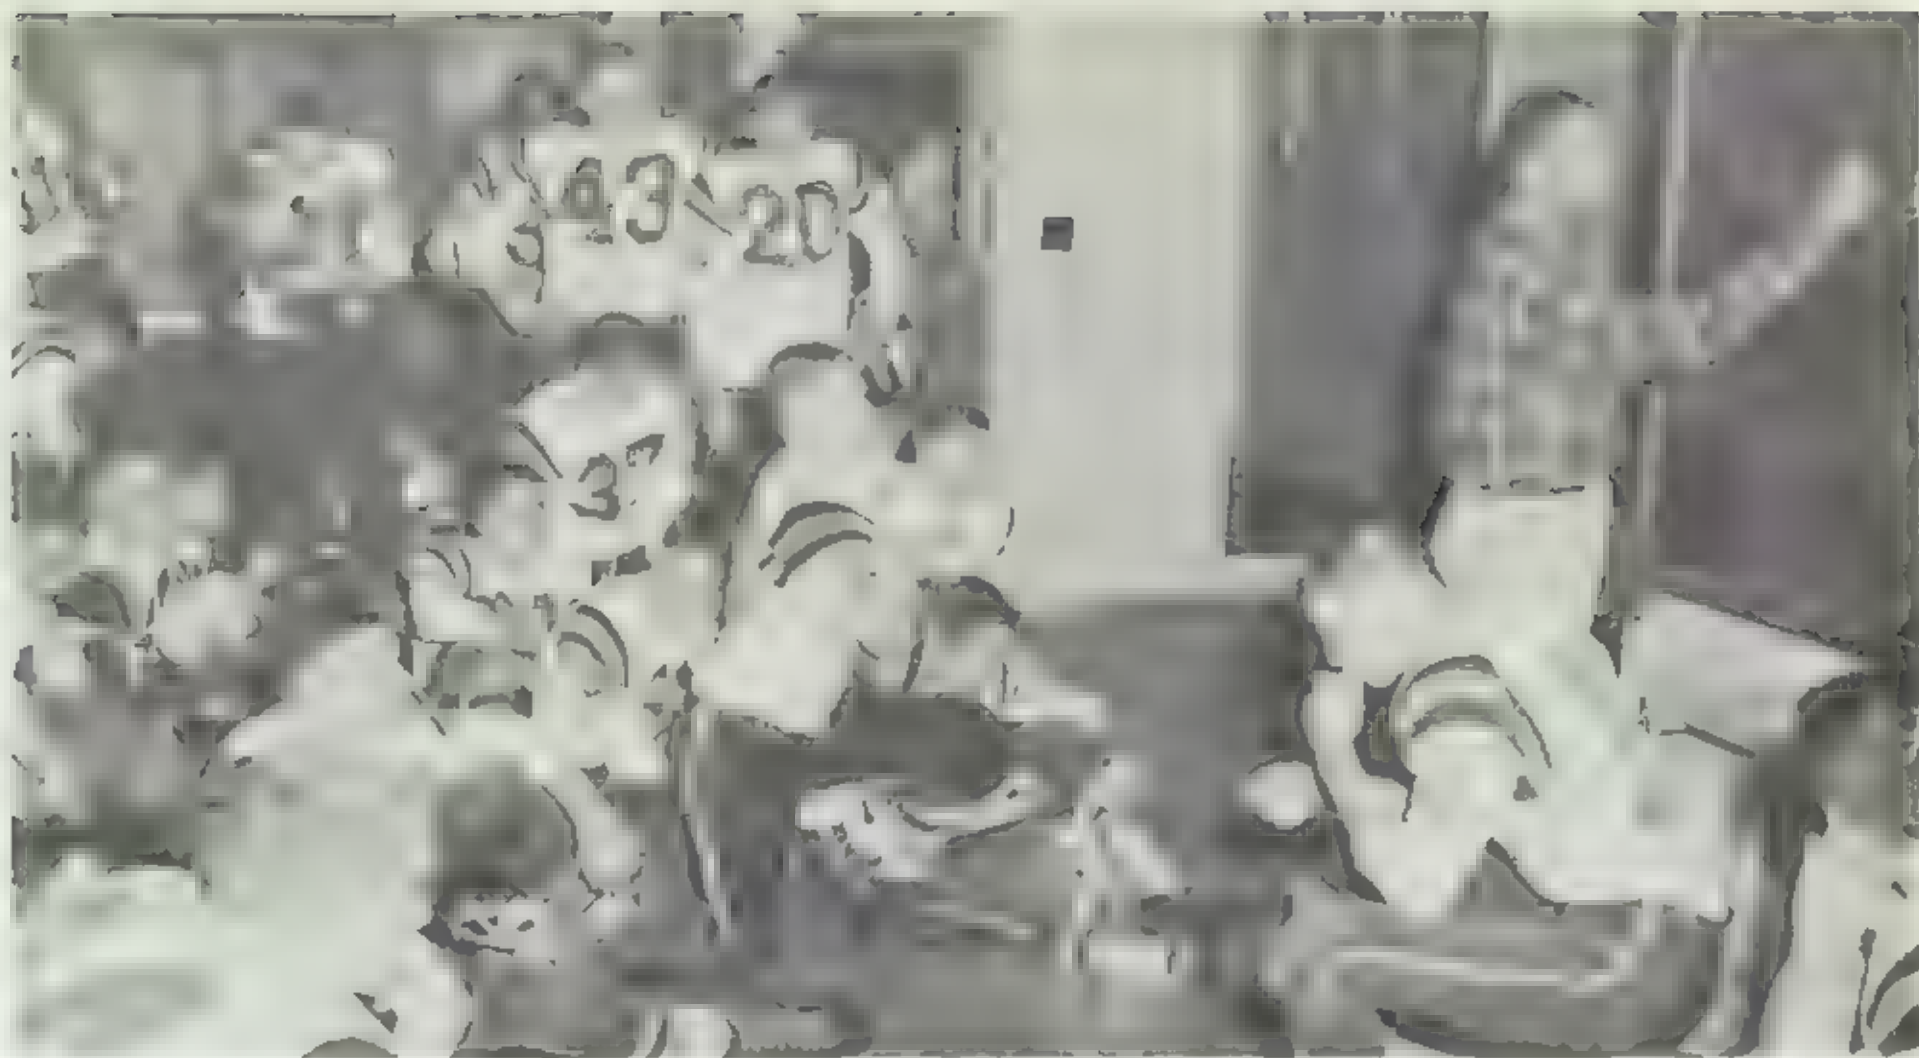

*I*n the final three games the Beavers continued to improve. Facing a high-spirited Hillsboro team, Duke's men whipped their arch-rivals, 20-6. In an exciting, fumble-ridden contest with Central Catholic, Beaverton's efforts produced a close game. Behind 12-0 at halftime, the final gun found the Beavers only a touchdown from victory. The final game with Astoria marked the first time Beaverton had defeated the Fishermen on their home field when the Bevos tripped them, 13-6. As the season closed, Bob Laman and Jerry Beckett tied for scoring honors with 36 points apiece. Other outstanding players were co-captains Ab Lawrence at tackle and Guy Hale, whose educated toe furnished many conversions.

Coach Wayne McKee's J.V. football team developed into a strong defensive alliance as they posted a season record of 6 wins, 2 losses, and garnered 170 total points to their opponents' 70. Suffering early losses to Gresham and Milwaukie, they improved steadily and rounded out the season with a convincing 28-7 victory over Central Catholic. Strong man for the squad was co-captain Walt Stamm, who scored 95 points. Following him in scoring were Ken Rider and John Erickson, who netted 24 and 18 points respectively.

State Meet	Beaverton, seventh place

Beaverton's varsity cross country team outclassed nine other Metro squads as they ran their way to their third consecutive district championship with low score of 57. The harriers, coached by Ed Bader, posted an unblemished season record of 7 wins and no defeats. Lowest mark of the year was an amazing 19 points garnered in the Central Catholic-Clackamas meet. Paced by Doug Beckman, junior, the Badermen placed seventh in the state meet at Salem. Other outstanding runners were Bert Waugh, senior, and Clyde Hunt, junior.

As the runners round the track on a lap of the lengthy course, Beaverton's Doug Beckman, in front, and Clyde Hunt hold top positions. The harriers easily won this meet and at the end of the season were undefeated in the District.

J V 's Work Hard to Improve

Opening their season with a convincing win over Astoria and Central Catholic in a three-way meet, the J.V. harriers ran on to establish a respectable record of 3 wins against 3 defeats. Coach Ed Bader took the squad to the state meet where they gained valuable experience. Kent Caveny and Pat Dumas shoved up as strong contenders for next year's varsity.

The girls' swim team stroked their way to a third consecutive State Championship title, outscoring their nearest rival in the final meet by 19 points. Nucleus of Coach Roger Harmon's mermaids was versatile Carolyn Wood, who swam undefeated in butterfly, freestyle, and relay events. Captain Laurie Maxwell, who splashed the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events, and Sandy Norris, who specialized in back-stroke, added strength and experience to the team.

The season was marred only by a 50-45 defeat from Parkrose, which ended the girls' record of 38 meets without a defeat; but they came back in a later meet to score 80 points against 62 for the Broncos.

Boys Tie Oswego for Swim Title

Coach Roger Harman's boys' swim team stroked their way to an undefeated season record of 11 wins, 0 losses. Consistent winners for the 33-man team throughout the season were Dick Peterson, who finished first in the state 50-yard freestyle event with a new record of 24.0 seconds, and Steve Penn, who came in third in the state 100-yard butterfly event.

The Beavers came from behind in the last two events of the state meet to catch Oswego and cop the state co-championship title. The trophy was nabbed only after the 200-yard freestyle relay team knocked 6 seconds off the old record to finish first with a time of 1:42.9 seconds. The team, consisting of Mac McCaskill, Captain Bob McIntyre, Dick Peterson, and Mike McCool, swam undefeated all season; and this was first-place trophy number thirteen for Beaverton.

Round in Second Place

*W*alloping Washington, 66-33, Beaverton opened the season with a showing of the value of their intramural play which preceded regular practice. Facing a slate of tough teams in the next three games, the Beavers overtook North Eugene in the last quarter to post a 73-68 win. The following two games saw the varsity quint defeat Corvallis, 71-54 and trip the South Salem Saxons, 66-63. Then with a 4-0 record before league action began, the polls ranked Beaverton as high as fifth in state.

Striving to reach first place, the Beavers routed Gresham, 69-48, but the defending champions David Douglas edged the varsity 46-40. The team effort that characterized the whole season brought them wins in the next four games against Milwaukie, Sunset, Clackamas, and Centennial. Clackamas nearly added the second defeat of league play as they led in the closing minutes until a surge by Beaverton won the game, 57-55, as Stout connected for the final bucket.

Beavers End Season Third in League

After losing 67-63 to Hillsboro in overtime, the Beavers upset league-leading Central Catholic. The varsity overcame a 30-27 deficit at the half and traded points until the final minute when, down 45-44, Hakala tallied. Beaverton registered two solid wins over Gresham and Astoria, but the Beaver quint lost four of the next six games, thus dropping to a third place tie with Astoria. The defeat of Astoria, 65-50, and the victory over second-place David Douglas gave the varsity a solid third in final league standings.

League action resulted in a 14.5 average for Hakala and a 13.0 average for Hale as these two starters were rewarded with Metro all-star positions. Furthermore, Coach Wilson in his last season here said, "The boys were the hardest working group I've had."

Versatile Don Hakala snags rebound during Central game. Inspired Beavers handed the league-leading Rams a 46-45 defeat.

Bert Waugh (52) and Milt Stout (32) move in as Milwaukie hoopster fumbles ball. Beavers won game, 65-57.

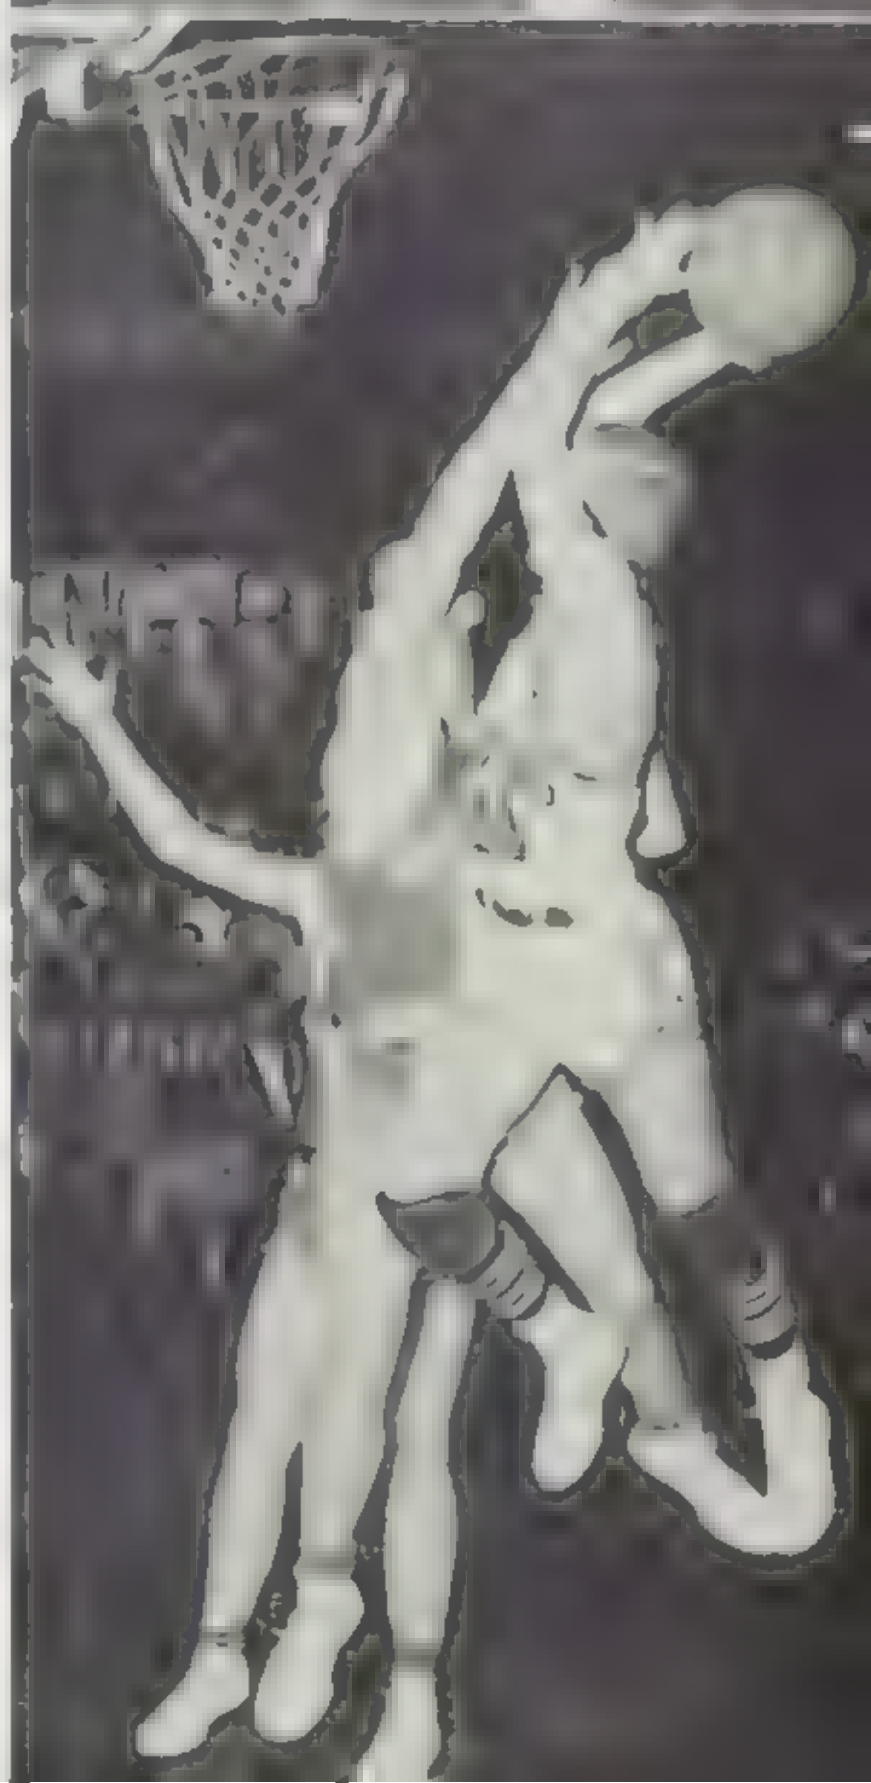

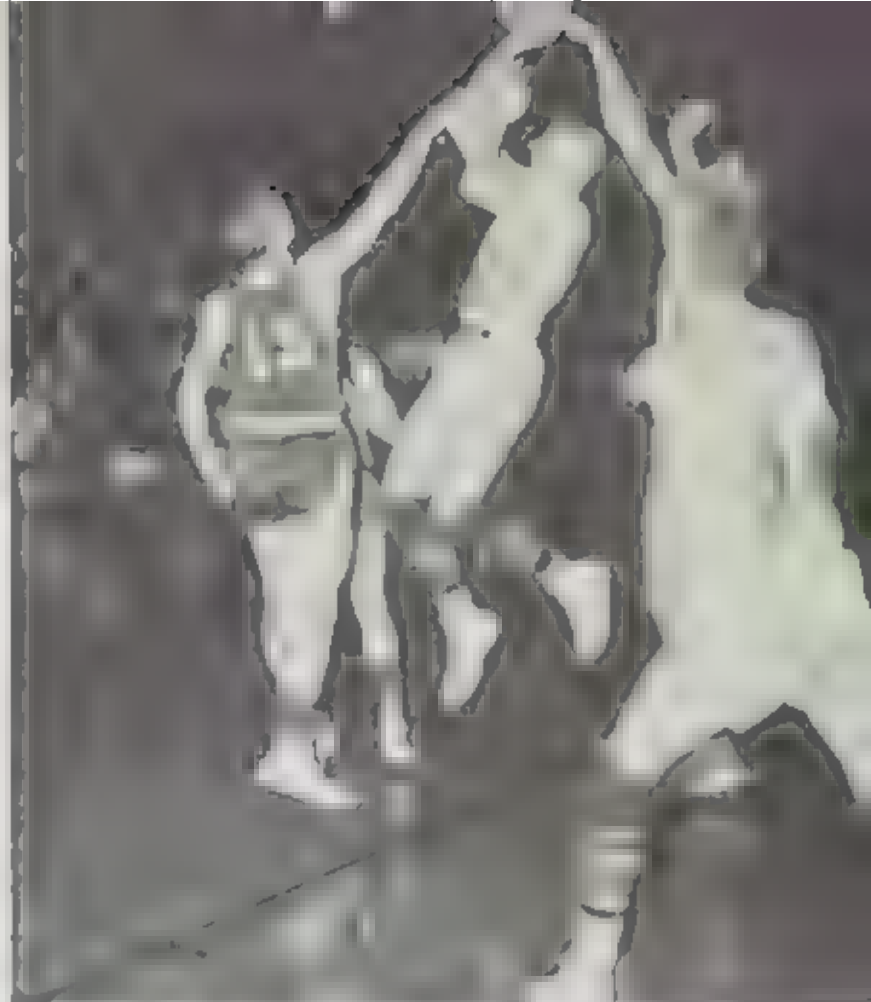

Hale breaks loose from the guard of a Sunset player to drive for a lay-up. The Beavers defeated the Apollos, 70-54.

Senior guard Don Hakala outmaneuvers Milwaukee players to hit his jump shot. Don averaged 14.5 points per game for the season.

Jeff Topping's shot is nearly blocked by a Sunset player. The game's end found the Beavers ahead, 70-54.

J.V.'s Find Metro Competition Tough

With an impressive 3-1 preseason record, the J.V. squad entered league action with a pair of wins over Gresham and David Douglas. They emerged with a 10-8 record which nevertheless gave them a first division finish. Throughout the season, the Beavers worked hard to improve; and although they lost twice to first place Astoria, they cut 25 points from Astoria's first score. Sophomore John Erickson sported an 11-point average to pace Beaver scoring.

Defeating team after team, Coach Souza's frosh emerged from league play with a commendable 15-2 record. Losing only to Sunset and Astoria, they avenged the first loss by walloping the Apollos 62-33 in their second meeting. The eleven-boy squad learned much in game technique which will help them in their next three years. Throughout the season Ricky Silva with 342 points, Roy Berg with 290 points, and Larry Coleman with 206 points led the scoring.

Wrestlers Notch Wins in League Action

*W*restling tough pre-season opponents the Beavers compiled a 1-3 record. After losing the first match to Benson, they grappled a 23-17 win over favored Parkrose. This marked the first time in five years that a Beaverton squad had overcome the Broncos.

The wrestlers topped Astoria, Clackamas, and Milwaukee in early league competition. Averaging 34 points per match against 14 for their opponents, they were tied for first place in the league. This position slipped to third as they lost 19-31 to Hillsboro and 15-30 to David Douglas.

A Gresham wrestler struggles to get out of Kelley's hold in the 141-Pound class, Kelley won, 1-0.

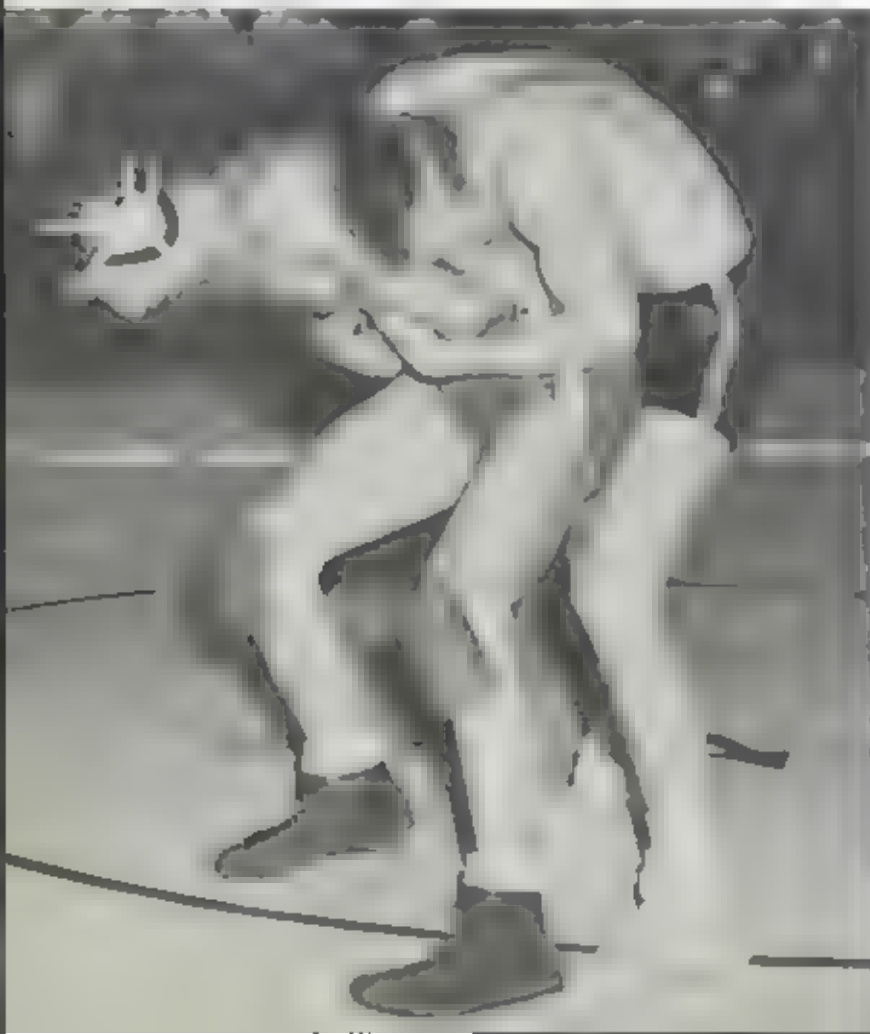

Tom Heath rolls his Apollo opponent over in attempt for a pin. Beavers as a team defeated Sunset, 37-20.

Larry Stadel tries to get a solid hold on his Sunset opponent in the third round. Beaverton swamped Sunset, 37-20

Team Co-Captain Dick Birch adds points to the team total by winning this match 1-0. Beaverton's total of 27 defeated Gresham's 18.

Facing a favored Gresham squad, the Beavers lost only 4 of the 13 matches to win the contest, 27-18. Invading Sunset, they wrestled a 37-20 victory and returned the next day to finish second to David Douglas in an invitational tourney. Although they built up a 20-3 margin midway in the match, they had to hold off a determined Centennial drive to win 29-22, and thus garner second place in league standings. However, the Beavers gained only a fourth place tie at district where inexperience hurt the varsity, Coach Harman commented, and only Ron Vrlicak qualified for state. Throughout the season Birch, Larry Stadel, and Moore with 51, 50, and 46 points, were top scorers. Moore, Vrlicak, Larry Stadel, and Birch won more than 70 per cent of their matches.

Coach Jack Boden's experienced ski team came out on top in all four meets run to date. The Beaverton foursome won the Willamette Junior Double Slalom with a total time of 392.7 seconds. Later wins came in February at the A.W.S. Giant Slalom at Timberline and the Santiam Giant Slalom at Hoodoo Bowl. Outstanding members of the squad were Frank Hurlbutt, who finished first, fourth, and second in four races, and Ken Peyton, who finished third, first, and second in four races.

Classes

A necessary unit in the functioning of Beaverton High School is Mr. Student Beaver — or rather, 1400 Mr. Student Beavers. Mr. Average Beaver spends 2.73 hours each night on homework for his 5.53 classes, maintaining a 2.74 or C grade point average. While some Beavers belong to no school clubs and others belong to as many as seven, the average number is 1.52.

Beaver families average 4.77 members. Beavers receive $7.50 allowance per month, and boys spend $8.68 per month on dates. Seven per cent own cars and fourteen per cent go steady. Beaver hobbies include hat collecting, writing, bowling, model railroads, magic, telephoning, "teacher heckling," eating, sleeping, reading, sports, music, and dancing. You name it, and some Beaver is doing it! The average 1261.4 students who daily fill the halls and classrooms are representative of the American youth of 1961 — inquisitive, eager, and full of fun.

Senior Class

The Senior class showed its spirit by sponsoring several successful projects. In the Homecoming parade the float "Cage Those Rams" took first place in the classes division. Later in the fall a Sadie Hawkins dance was used to raise money for the winter formal. White air cushions with an orange "Beaverton Beavers" were sold during football season, and a powderpuff basketball game featuring "Cook's Cagers" and "Farley's Flyers" was held later in the year. These activities led up to the modernistic winter formal, "Fire and Ice," sponsored by the class.

Academic achievement was shown by the Class of '61 with seventeen seniors receiving National Merit certificates, the greatest number of students to receive this honor at B.H.S.; and also with the Senior class receiving the greatest percentage of blue cards. The high point of the year for the class was the graduation activities — Senior Breakfast, Baccalaureate, Senior Assembly, and finally, Graduation.

Junior Class

The main activities of the Junior class centered around raising money for the junior prom. The two major projects used for raising money were the "Hemline Hop," an after-game dance held during football season featuring the new knee tickler-length skirts; and spirit ribbons, sold during football and basketball season and printed with a different spirit-rallying slogan, such as "Slam Those Central Rams," each time. This imaginative project not only increased the prom fund, but also raised school spirit.

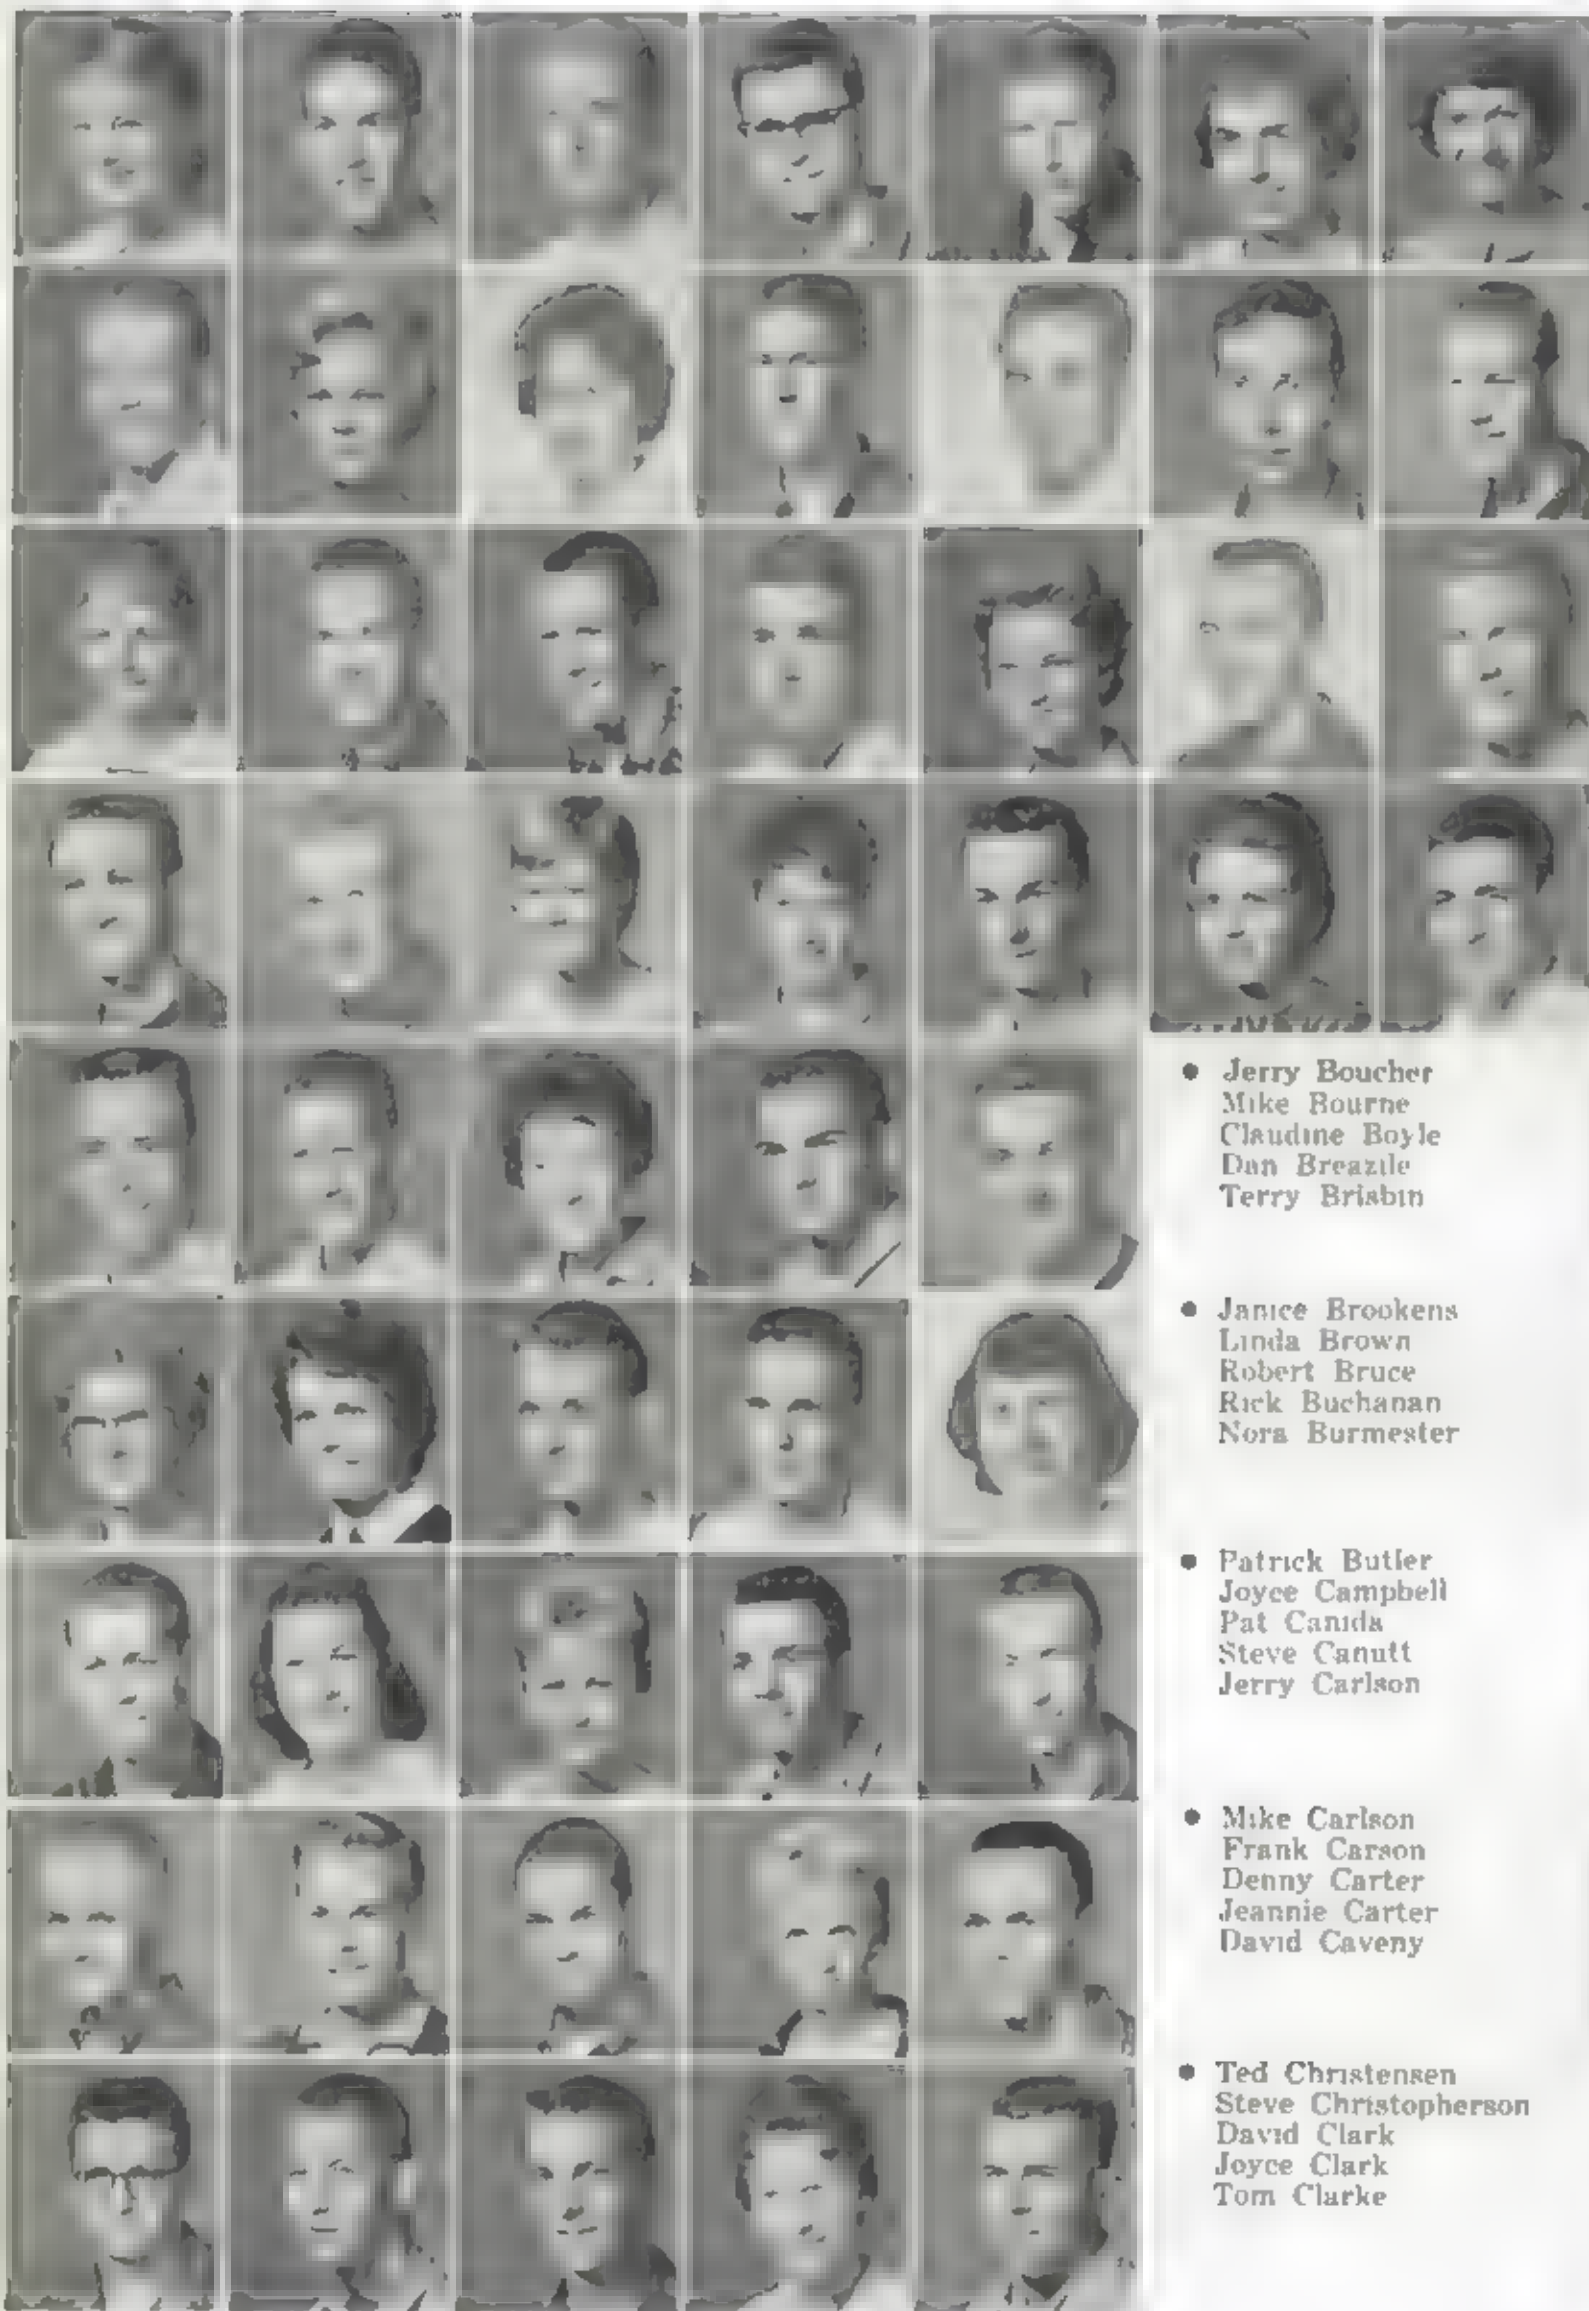

The class jewelry design was selected by the Class of '62 in the fall and by spring class jewelry was proudly worn by many Juniors. The prom held in the spring honored the graduating seniors. This major project involved the majority of the class in its preparation.

Junior class officers are: Seated, Al Jubitz, Vice President; Doug Beckman, President; Karney Platt, President; Ken Rost, Vice President. Standing, Tessie Sorenson, Secretary; Landsay Blackman, Treasurer; Pat Stewart, Reporter; Lynne Dexter, Reporter; Heidi Sieberts, Secretary; Karol Jo Kappel, Treasurer.

Sophomore Class

The second year for the Sophomores got into full swing with the class actively participating in Homecoming. "Beaver Dam" was the name of their float which garnered for them a third place in the classes division. Under the heading of projects, the Sophomores showed originality in selling dill pickles during home football games. Cookie sales also added to the class coffers. Their major project was a Beaver sweatshirt sale, advertised by numerous posters around the building encouraging loyal students to wear a school sweatshirt. An aftergame dance in April added to their list of activities. Scholastically, these students showed ability with about 10 per cent of the Class members receiving blue cards.

Freshmen Class

New and different classes, friends, and activities provided the lively Freshmen a format for future high school careers. Their "on-the-go" spirit was shown in their participation in various activities, both athletic and scholastic. One of February's aftergame dances was sponsored by the freshmen, who worked diligently to make it a success. Scholastically, the class ranked high, achieving a 75 percentile rating in ITED testing. One quarter there were forty blue card recipients among the class. Freshmen are found in many organizations and are working toward leadership as they continue their high school careers.

"Come to the frosh games!" is the message these posters carry as freshmen encourage school attendance of their games.

Every girl in the world
loves to be

The golden key turns, and so locks the door behind us for another year — a year filled with pleasures and frustrations, disappointments and joys. But always the joys linger on as the frustrations are reconciled. We extend our sincerest appreciation to Mirro-Graphic Yearbooks and Mr. James Powell, to Kennell-Elbs studios in Eugene to Mr. Bob Freeman of Valley News, to Mrs. Kay MacLean, our competent adviser, and to our faithful yearbook staff, for all gave of their energies to help the 1961 BEAVER become a reality.

The golden key turns, and so locks the door behind the Beaverton student for another year — a year filled with pleasures and frustrations, disappointments and joys. Nothing remains but pleasant memories, memories which will linger on in the pages of the 1961 BEAVER. This book, a product of our best effort, is yours to peruse and enjoy.

Sincerely,

Nancy Hager

The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the car was the smell of the sea.
 It was a fresh, salty breeze that hit me in the face.
 I had never smelled anything like it before. It was a reminder of the vastness of the world and the beauty of nature.
 I took a deep breath and felt a sense of peace.
 The sun was shining brightly
 and the water was a deep blue.
 I had found a perfect spot to relax and enjoy the view.
 It was exactly what I needed.
 I had been so stressed lately and this was a perfect escape.
 I had found a moment of peace and tranquility.
 I had found a place where
 I could be myself and enjoy the simple things in life.
 I had found a place where
 I could breathe and live.
 I had found a place where
 I could be happy.

Well its been a riot in the past few days. The weather has been perfect. A warm day, not too hot. Just what we needed.
This summer is Stay Sober.

Sam -
I'm glad that I have known you the last four years I think that we gave Russell P a bad
time in metalshop lot of luck in the future
